Mayor meets with top postal officials

New post office gets shot in arm

Mayor William M. Oakley's drive to get a new post office built in Romulus took a tentative step forward last week, as a result of a personal visit with high post office officials in Washington, D.C.

Meeting with Assistant Postmaster Jim Finch and Congressman Ford on Friday, the mayor said there is a chance that the federally-owned land adjacent to the Romulus Civic Center may not be sold for other purposes.

The 2.5 acre tract in question was purchased by the postal service as site of a new post office for Romulus, but an austerity move last year halted the contemplated plan and transferred local postal carriers to the Taylor Post Office.

Oakley's goal is to have a new post office erected on the government-owned land as originally planned. Increasing complaints of poor service out of the Taylor facility and inadequate parking space at the present Romulus Post Office have added new momentum to Oakley's request for a new postal building.

Upon his return from Washington, the mayor sent a letter to Ford listing details of their conversation.

Contained in the letter was Oakley's comment: "I could elaborate, at some length, why we believe Romulus deserves its own postal facility. However, all we ask now, is that the postal service stop the proposed sale of this land to give them time to make a thorough investigation of our needs."

As for the immediate problems of poor service, Finch, who has authority over the entire midwest region, assured Oakley that he "would send someone down to investigate the complaints and take appropriate action."

Oakley came to the meeting with over 2,000 signatures of people upset over the original move and the steadily decreasing level of postal service in Romulus.

The mayor first wrote to Congressman Ford, who is a ranking member of the House post office and civil service subcommittees, last November. Ford replied to the mayor saying Congress had little power to take action, as a result of the reorganization of the postal service in 1970 which made the post office a semi-autonomous agency of the federal government.

Under that reorganization, which was designed to improve postal operations and make them self-supporting, the position of postmaster general was taken out of the President's cabinet and subsequently out of the hands of Congress.

However, since that time, the post office continues to lose money and must be subsidized annually to the tune of 1.6 billion dollars.

A bill to correct that situation and bring the postal service back under the control of Congress, recently passed the House by an overwhelming margin.

However, it is presently languishing in a Senate government affairs committee, because of President Carter's opposition to it, according to the Congressional Quarterly.

Ford, however, is optimistic the bill will eventually become law, at which time his and other congressman's vote will have greater impact.

Oakley planned the meeting with the post office officials to coincide with Congressman Ford's annual legislative conference last week.

A contingent of six Romulus officials attended the three-day conference, which included discussions by top government leaders on revenue-sharing, CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act), Community development grants, senior citizen programs and economic development.

Representing Romulus were Oakley, City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar, Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, Councilman Jimmie C. Raspberry, Finance Director Larry Moore and Public Information Officer Jay Young.

Old post office rapped by city heads

Present Romulus Post Office at Bibbins and Shook streets is criticized among other things for not having adequate parking. Photo shows only on-street parking and all spaces usually filled at all hours of the day. Only two windows are in service at post office, with mail deliveries made by postmen working out of the Taylor Post Office. The arrangement made last year in an austerity move by federal officials has left many Romulus citizens disgruntled and unhappy. —ANP photo by Tom Greenwood.

Cause $10,000 damage

Vandals cut tires

An estimated $10,000 in damage was caused by vandals slashing tires on up to 35 cars early Friday morning in the Meadows Subdivision.

"We have a couple of leads and we're pretty sure it was the work of juveniles," said Patrolman Bill Wadsworth of the Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol.

He said he had received about 25 complaints from residents of the area who had tires cut. He added that the total is expected to reach at least 35.

Occurring sometime between 3 a.m. and daybreak, Wadsworth said cars had at least two tires slashed which were parked on Harrison, Cherry, Isabelle, Meadowhill, Halecreek, Leroy, Springhill and Burning Tree.

Wadsworth asked that anyone with information on the vandalism contact him or the sheriff's unit by calling 721-2222 or 942-9660.

Council nixes truck terminal

BY BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The reluctance of Romulus City Council to lend a helping hand to a nationally-known trucking firm almost cost the community an estimated $60,000-$70,000 in annual tax revenues.

Wilson Freight Co., with terminals in 70 leading cities throughout the nation, was turned down by council for the second time Tuesday night for aid in financing a $1 million truck terminal in the northeast section of the city.

At the previous council session, members ended up in a 3-3 tie vote, with one abstention, on Wilson's request for help.

Letters from the Romulus Chamber of Commerce and a personal appeal from several chamber members failed to sway councilmen on Wilson's behalf.

The company is asking the city to issue industrial development revenue bonds to finance the cost of the terminal and then lease the completed project back to the firm.

Similar to a turnkey operation, the plan would be advantageous to Wilson because the bonds issued would be tax exempt.

The company's appearance Tuesday was the third before council. On the first occasion, they presented their proposal. Council turned it down on their second appearance, and on their third trip last week, refused to take a vote on the request, choosing instead to let their earlier decision stand.

Ed Fall, director of the building department, commented, "I'd rather see them here than not paying taxes." He estimated Wilson's annual taxes would be $60,000-$70,000.

However, the trucking company indicated they will go ahead with their project on its own hook and build on 18.4 acres of land it owns on the southwest corner of Wicks and Inkster roads. Included in the company's project are a terminal building with office space, a truck storage building and exterior trailer storage.

The present M-2 (general industrial) zoning permits the operation of a trucking terminal, according to Jay Young, public information officer.

He explained, that with 24 truck terminals now located in Romulus, a move is being considered by the city to rezone the area containing the Wilson property to M-T (industrial transportation) which would restrict truck terminals to the northeast part of the city.

In its proposal to council, Wilson offered to landscape the front of the completed terminal grounds and install greenbelts along the sides and at the rear of the truck terminal.

Voting against the Wilson proposal were Mrs. Beverly McAnally, Ray Cantrell and Jerry Canejo. Voting for the plan were Mrs. Mary Carter, Fred "Junior" Block and Mrs. Mary Ann Banks.

Although Councilman Jimmie Raspberry abstained, it was learned by the Roman that his vote is questionable under parliamentary rules of order.

Mrs. McAnally said residents of the area she represents, which includes the Wilson land, did not like trucks in their neighborhood. Also, she explained, terminals did not pay as much in taxes as other types of industry.

During council discussion, Raspberry said his constituents were against the terminal, but said he would not disclose his vote until the roll call was taken.

Fall said Wilson is rated AAA by Dun & Bradstreet.

Woods top vote getter

A board appointee was top vote getter, a recalled trustee seeking reelection was soundly beaten, and the leader of this year's successful recall drive was elected, in Monday's Romulus school elected to fill five seats on the board.

Defeated more than two to one, 769-331, was an advisory proposition asking voters whether school trustees should be paid up to $30 per meeting as now permitted under new state law.

The board of education is not bound to abide by the voters' decision on the advisory proposition.

Tallying the highest vote count of 919 out of the total of 1,500 cast was Michael Woods, 37627 Goddard Rd., who was appointed early this year to fill the vacancy left when Trustee Jack Bath resigned last December. Woods won one of the two four-year seats at stake.

Elected to fill the second four-year term on the school board was Mrs. Theresa Kraft, 14783 Inkster Rd., who led the drive which resulted in the recall by voters of four trustees last March 4.

Four members of the Romulus community were named to fill the vacancies by Gov. William G. Milliken shortly after the recall election. They verbally promised that they had not taken part in the recall movement and would not seek re-election to their appointed board posts. None of the four ran in Monday's election.

Gerald Budd, former president of the board who was ousted in the recall drive, failed in his bid to regain his seat, finishing fourth out of the field of five challengers for the post behind Woods and Mrs. Kraft. He received 366 votes.

Ending up third in the run for the four-year terms was Myles Johnson with 387 votes, while last place went to Joseph M. Filbert, with 155 votes.

In the race for the one three-year term on the board, Mrs. Evelyn E. Hopewell, 11087 Whitehorn, was the victor with 763 votes. Finishing behind her were Richard J. Zavodsky, 345 votes, and Sheldon Chandler Jr., 203 votes.

Chandler is the husband of Gloria Chandler, former board secretary, who also shared the unenviable distinction of being pushed out of her board seat in the recall drive. She was the focal point of much of the criticism levelled against the board during the recall drive.

Emerging victorious in the race for the one two-year term on the board was Mrs. Margaret A. Cole, 34979 Julie, with 629 votes. Far behind her were Andrew Orgovan Jr., 288 votes, and Mrs. Barbara A. Schuster, 227 votes.

The contest for the one one-year term on the board saw Mrs. Jo Ann Marvicsin, 37020 Mario Ann Ct., win the spot with 592 votes, closely followed by Alan Satterlee, with 514 votes.

City cracking down

If you live in Romulus and your dog doesn't have a license, and your weeds aren't cut, if your yard is unkempt, or if you have an inoperative car parked in front of your house, be on the lookout for Jim Bratly.

Bratly is working on special assignment out of the city treasurer's office to survey the entire city of Romulus and to make reports on violations of city ordinances having to do with animal control and clean premises.

According to Helen Gallien, city treasurer, "Jim is doing an excellent job. By skipping from one area of the city to another each day, he can spot violations because residents do not know he is coming to their neighborhood."

The survey to check on city ordinance violations is the second such venture by the city in the last eight years, the treasurer said.

Men seek revenge

A last reminder to Romulus residents that tonight is third annual softball battle between elected male city officials and staffs and female employees for the sake of muscular dystrophy.

Scheduled to begin at 7:15 p.m. at Elmer Johnson City Park, the "do or die" contest will have proceeds go to help victims of the crippling and fatal disease.

Last year, the stronger males were bombed out by their secretaries and are seeking revenge.

Donations will be collected during the game by the Michigan Roadrunners Club of Romulus.

Woman claims rats infest neighborhood

A rat came to the Romulus City Council meeting last Tuesday night. To back up her claim that rats were infesting her neighborhood and yard, Mrs. Diana Craig, 15444 Orchard, brought a dead rat in a plastic zipper bag with her to the council session.

Council members assured her it was not necessary for them to view the deceased rodent and that they would take her word. Mrs. Craig had deposited the bag and rat at the rear of the council chambers just in case she would have to prove her point. She claimed that her house, located in the Meadows Subdivision, and yard, as well as those of her neighbor, were overrun with rats.

Lee Silvey, director of safety and regulations, told council he had been out to her house, but could not locate Mrs. Craig. He explained that he had used poison bait in the area and had distributed literature to the neighborhood on rat control and proper procedure in the bagging of garbage.

Silvey told the Roman that the city had contacted the Wayne County Health Department about the situation. As a result, the city and county jointly have made regular visits to the Meadows to rid the area of rats by telling residents how to eliminate their food supply.

Silvey advised, "The city can't do it all. Residents of the area must cooperate with and follow the recommendations of the city and county health department."

Along those lines, he recommended that residents keep their yards clean of anything that rats can feed on, especially dog manure.

"Rats thrive on dog manure," he said.

He also said residents of the area should have storage sheds placed on an elevated base and to enclose garden composts in some sort of metal containers.

After some discussion on the rat problem, council requested the mayor to report back to them after his staff had talked to area residents at the Romulus Neighborhood Center located in the Meadows.

Mrs. Craig went home with the rat.

Church conducts census

St. Aloysius Catholic Church of Romulus will be conducting a parish census during the months of June July and August.

"The major objective of the census is to help us become aware of how many Catholics we have here in Romulus and how we as a parish family can meet their needs," a spokesman said.

The census will be taken by two seminarians on a door-to-door basis. Tom Gresock is from St. Mary's Seminary in Orchard Lake, and Dave Mave is from Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit.

"When these two young seminarians arrive at your home, we hope by your having read this article you will have some understanding of why we are taking the census here at St. Aloysius," the spokesman said.

Hope still there for Reuther unit

Jarrette Simmons, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said negotiations to save the Walter P. Reuther Long-Term Care Facility in Westland are "still alive" in Lansing.

The facility, which offers highly-skilled nursing care, is slated to close unless a permanent source of non-county revenue can be found to make up for an annual $3.5 million deficit.

Wayne County already faces an $8 to $12 million deficit this year and can no longer continue to subsidize it, Simmons said.

The facility currently is operating on a special one-time-only state grant of $1.7 million. The State Legislature gave the grant to the county for phase-out purposes, but it has served to keep the facility open since Dec. 1, permitting negotiations for state or federal funding to continue.

"The telephone lines between state and county officials are really hot," Simmons said. "We are doing everything possible to obtain supplemental funding for the continued operation of the Reuther Center."

Simmons said there was "another recent glimmer of hope that help might be forthcoming from the state." A bill has passed the State Senate giving the county an additional $250,000 to keep the facility operating at least through August.

"If it passes the House, it would buy more negotiating time," she said.

However, Simmons said she is in close touch with State Rep. William Ryan (D-Detroit) about how soon the House can be expected to act.

"The county is racing against a financial deadline," she said. "We are under federal court order to advise patients and families at least 40 days before closing the facility."

"Our Corporation Counsel tells us that the special $1.7 million state grant will be used up soon - so we should plan on a target decision date of June 20 as to whether or not the county must proceed with closing the facility."

"It's extremely important for us to know the position of the State Legislature as to the additional $250,000," Simmons emphasized. "If we have to wait too long for final House action, we'll be out of money."

Alines' plight viewed

An award-winning documentary that captures on film the plight of illegal Mexican aliens will be shown on Channel 56 Monday at 9 p.m.

"The Unwanted," narrated by actor Barry Newman, begins with an historical look at Mexican-American relations--from the formation of the U.S. Border Patrol to the Bracero Program and Operation Wetback.

The personal stories of several desperate young Chicanos and their desire for a new life in the United States are shown against a background of poverty and life in a Mexican ghetto.

Filmed in both southern California and Mexico, the documentary follows the actual process of illegal entry into the United States, as well as the Border Patrol's attempts to curtail it with sophisticated electronic devices.

At the conclusion of the program, writer Frank del Olmo questions Leonel Castillo, commissioner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. Castillo discusses the most recent proposals by the Carter administration to offer amnesty to Mexican aliens who have been in this country for several years.

"The Unwanted" is the winner of two Los Angeles-area Emmy Awards, the Bronze Medal from the Virgin Islands Film Festival, and the National Latino Media Coalition Award.

Announced at conference

Jason P. Lovette is named Rotary district governor

"Fellowship is everywhere! Take part in as much as you can." That message from Dr. Gerald Ebmeier, Westland Rotarian and governor of the 47-club District 640 of Rotary International, began four days of activities at the annual conference attended by more than 500 members and their wives.

The 62nd Annual District 640 Conference ended Sunday in a whirlwind finish to the Rotary year. Highlights of the event, held in Boyne Mountain and hosted by the Wayne club, included awards presentations to several local individuals and clubs, speeches and reports on Rotarian activities, presentation of a new district governor and accolades for the outgoing governor. There was plenty of time for that Rotary "fellowship" and socializing, too, during the busy four-day agenda.

District 640 encompasses the area of southeastern Michigan and Essex County in Ontario, according to Ebmeier, the man who has been responsible for the organization and supervision of those 47 Rotary clubs for the past year. His term as district governor will end July 1, when he'll turn over that job to Jason P. Lovette, member of the Romulus chapter.

There are some 2,700 members in the large district, which includes cities as far as Adrian, to the Ohio border, the city of Detroit, Grosse Point, Westland, Livonia, Canton, Romulus, Wayne, Belleville, Windsor and many others.

The governor spends a "very hectic, tiring, but very rewarding" year travelling to all the clubs in his district, and coordinating activities in his area of the international service club, Ebmeier said.

The district governor is chosen by a committee of past governors, after his own club has nominated him.

The conference participants paid tribute to Ebmeier's services as governor, as did the State House of Representatives and Senate in separate resolutions acknowledging his contributions to the club and community.

But Ebmeier was not the only person honored for achievement during the four-day conference.

For the first time, an award for "Outstanding Rotarian of the Year" was given out, to Donald D. Juchartz, member of the Belleville club. The gold cup was inscribed with a testimonial to Juchartz' service in carrying out the Object of Rotary. Juchartz was picked for the first-time award as the man who most exemplified the Rotary ideals.

There were five Rotary Clubs out of the entire district that were given Golden Service Awards for accomplishments in 1977, and one of those honorees was the Canton Rotary chapter.

Ebmeier presented the service award to Canton President John Schwartz for that club's work in promoting teaching of cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR). Not only did the Canton Rotary offer classes in the life-saving skills, but also donated a "resuscitator Annie" dummy to the Canton Fire Department to teach CPR.

One of the greatest tributes that can be given a Rotarian is the honor of making him a "Rotary Fellow." Two Romulus club members got that recognition by being named as Paul Harris Fellows at the conference. The award is a tribute from the man's own club, where the club donates $1,000 in the man's name to the Rotary scholarship fund. Receiving that vote of confidence from the Romulus club were members Mickey Reel and Jason Lovette. As district-governor-elect, Lovett brings an additional distinction to his club.

A "cultural exchange" of sorts was another highlight of the Rotary conference. Wayne club president Dr. George Straschnov told the gathering of his visit in January to District 329 in India as part of an exchange between the two brother districts. The program was undertaken to promote world-wide understanding and good will, one of the basic objects of Rotary.

Ebmeier picked Straschnov as District 640's ambassador, and India District 329 Governor Probat Kumar Dinha sent his delegate, Professor Suren De, to the United States. Suren De was featured guest speaker at one of the conference luncheons.

Other speakers included Jervis C. Webb of the Detroit club, and John David Kennedy, sent to the conference by Rotary International President W. Jack Davis as his representative. Other informative speeches, "rap sessions" among Rotarians, reports and award ceremonies, as well as a gala district governor's banquet, were scheduled for participants.

The host club for the event was the Wayne Rotary Club, with Harold Rediske acting as chairman. Wayne club members selected the location and planned programming for this annual review and preview of the Rotary year.

A Rotary Fellow

One of the highest honors that can be given a member of Rotary International is membership in that elite group known as "Rotary Fellows," an honor bestowed on Romulus club member Mickey Reel (left) at the recent annual Rotary District 640 Conference in Boyne Mountain. Presenting the honor to Reel was District Governor Gerald Ebmeier, a Westland Rotarian who has for the past year been governor of the 47-club district. The Paul Harris Fellow award is an honor given the member by his own club, when they donate $1,000 in his name to the Rotary scholarship fund.

The beginning and the end

The recent conference of District 640 Rotary Club members marked an ending for one district governor, and the beginning for another. The new governor, who will take the job over on July 1, is Romulus chapter member Jason Lovette (center), who is shaking hands with outgoing

Straschnov, who visited India earlier this year as the other half of the "exchange;" Lovette; Ebmeier and Harold Rediske, conference chairman from the Wayne Rotary club, which planned and hosted the conference at Boyne Mountain.

Tax collector supreme

Linda Brooks, internal auditor in the office of Romulus city treasurer, looks at tax records of the next firm she is going to visit at Metro Airport. Since January, she has collected $15,000 of $285,000 due the city since 1971 in delinquent personal property taxes. Miss Brooks said this is the first attempt by the city to collect unpaid taxes in several years and will become an ongoing policy in the treasurer's office. (Photo by Jay Young, Romulus public information officer.)

RHS reunion held

A total of 425 alumni attended the recent Romulus High School reunion for graduates for the years 1916 through 1949 at the K of C Hall in Wayne.

In addition to communities throughout Michigan, graduates came from the following states: Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, Florida, Tennessee and Colorado.

A special tribute planned for Mrs. and Mrs. Ben Scott, class of 1916, could not be held due to illness.

Joe Fisher, master of ceremonies, commented, "This reunion idea started with our first one in 1968. The last one was held in Romulus in 1973 with plans to have one every five years.

"It's unique that we can do this due to the smaller size of classes in the past," he told assembled alumni.

The invocation was given by Charles Laine (class of 1945) who now resides in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Carl Morris (class of 1934), well-known educator and resident of Romulus, was introduced and he presented an inscribed plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Herzog, long-time residents and educators in the Romulus school system.

Former teachers present for the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Herzog, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shantz, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lewis, Mrs. Elizabeth Spata, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerdorn, Gerald White, and Mr. and Mrs. George Wendt.

Highlight of the evening's festivities was the presentation of cash prizes in the following categories:

Grand prize - Walter and Rose Ann McQuaid; farthest male - Nelson Coash (California); farthest female - Barbara Nichols (Washington); oldest alumni - Violet Klages; oldest class ring - Clyde Ridge (1928); newest bride - Beverly Floater; newest groom - Clarence Hermann; most grandchildren - Pearl Johnson (20); most great-grandchildren - Lawrence Pink (3); most children - Pearl Johnson (9); oldest school memento - Clayton Jones (1929 class will).

The alumni committee, co-chaired by Fisher and Ruth Clark, consisted of: Dorothy Gabriel, Mary Charette, Verna Stubblefield, Dorothy McGhen, Marge Williams, Clyde Ridge, Mary Laverack, Ben Dugan, Bob Poet, Harold Meldrum, Edna Milatz, Jeanette Rocheleau, Ida Swantek, Phyllis Savage, Doris Fisher, John Beltramo, Beaulah Morris, Carl Morris, Helen Hay, Harold Bader, Carl Sumner, Bud Koester, Geraldine Brothers, and Emma Salla.

Cong. Ford listens

Cong. William D. Ford, who represents Romulus, listens as city officials discuss local problems during his annual Municipal Officials Conference last week in Washington, D. C. Meeting above took place in hospitality city room rented by city of Romulus.

Horsemen urged to register for parade

Horsemen planning to enter horses and ponies in the annual Romulus Fourth of July parade this year are urged to make registration as soon as possible. Charlotte McBride, bicentennial committee member, said registration applications may be obtained from her at the building department in Romulus City Hall, Circle R. Ranch Saddlery, Family Tack Shop, Flock's Saddlery, or Schuchman's Saddlery.

To be eligible to participate in the parade, horsemen must have their applications received no later than June 29 or telephone in their entries (729-6932) by that same date.

Registered entries will be eligible to win gift certificates donated by the four saddleries mentioned above, Mrs. McBride said.

Staging and judging for horsemen will take place between 10 to 11 a.m. July 4 at the city hall parking lot, she explained. Prizes will be given in four categories: costume, mounted unit, single driven unit, and team driven unit. Horsemen who do not register are still invited to ride in the parade, but will not be eligible for prizes, she said.

Metroparks gear up for holiday 'crush'

The Huron-Clinton metroparks — serving the citizens of Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne counties — are ready for the Fourth of July holiday weekend, with many persons expected to be off from work on July 3.

James J. Pompo, deputy director, said this holiday weekend — if the weather is favorable — might well be one of the most popular for users of the metroparks. The better-known parks — Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropark near Utica-Rochester, Kensington Metropark near Milford and Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville — are each expected to attract 30,000 or more visitors per day while the smaller sites will be jammed, mostly with picnickers.

Required are vehicle entry permits — annual regular, $5, senior citizen, $1, or daily, $1.

Picnic groups of 50 or more persons should advise the park office well in advance of the date desired, so that officials can suggest the best location available. Boaters and swimmers are advised to use proper water safety rules on the lakes, with swimming permitted only at the beach sites while lifeguards are on duty.

Here is a summary of metropark facilities:

— LOWER HURON METROPARK, covers 1,200 acres along the Huron River, near Belleville. Facilities include a scenic parkway, several picnic-playfield areas, 18-hole "Par 3" golf course, nature trails, children's tot lot and play areas, horseshoe and shuffleboard courts. The L-shaped pool is open daily, with nominal charges for pool including bathhouse use, heated showers, coin-operated lockers and food service. Park hours are sunrise to 10 p.m. For details contact Lower Huron at 697-9181 (Belleville).

— WILLOW METROPARK covers 1,500 acres near New Boston. Scenic drive, plus olympic-sized swimming pool, bathhouse, colorful patio, food bar, tot lot, shuffleboard courts, games area, picnic areas, playgrounds, play equipment, woods, open fields and shorefishing are the major attractions. Park hours are sunrise to 10 p.m. For details contact Willow Metropark at 697-9181 (Belleville - Lower Huron Metropark).

— OAKWOODS METROPARK covers 1,711 acres located five miles northwest of Flat Rock. Facilities include a 350-acre major interpretive area, nature center building, seasonal exhibits, several nature trails for self-guided hikes, paved roadway, picnic areas, playgrounds and shorefishing. Hours are 8 a.m. to dusk. For details contact Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

— MARSHBANK METROPARK covers 115 acres six miles southwest of Pontiac. The park faces Cass Lake, but no swimming is permitted. Primary attractions are picnic areas and playfields, with water and sanitary facilities. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. For details contact Marshbank at 685-1561 (Kensington Metropark).

— KENSINGTON METROPARK near Milford has long been a favorite with outdoor enthusiasts. Kent Lake is a major attraction for swimmers, boaters and fishermen. Martindale and Maple beaches have beachhouses with dressing rooms, heated showers, coin-operated lockers and food service, plus a staff of lifeguards. The beautifully landscaped grounds enhance the setting for sunners and swimmers, with play equipment an attraction for the small fry.

The Island Queen, popular 60-passenger sternwheeler, makes 45-minute tours of Kent Lake. Persons can board the excursion boat at the boat dock from 12 noon through 6 p.m. daily. Charges are nominal.

Boatcrg is a major attraction with two boat ramps, sailboat and rowboat rentals available at the boat rental building.

There is a 10-mile per hour speed limit on Kent Lake, and no water skiing is permitted. Gasoline and bait are not available in the park.

Bluegills, crappies and bass inhabit Kent Lake.

Permit fee and advance registration is required for use of the canoe campsite.

There are many large picnic areas, many with a view of woods and water. Most have playfields nearby, plus water and sanitary facilities.

For details contact Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

— KENSINGTON CHILDREN'S FARM, a 100-acre site bordering the Huron River in Kensington Metropark near Milford, is open daily.

The farm has a barn, chicken

SUFFERING NEEDLESSLY?

Millions are turning to chiropractic because they are recognizing the scientific principles of nature that have made spinal adjustments effective for many conditions where other methods have failed. The chart below shows the lateral view of the spinal column and indicates in section "A" names of the spinal nerves as they branch from the spinal cord and exit through openings between the vertebrae. All tissues, glands and organs supplied with life energy by these nerves are shown in the section marked "B" in the chart. The section marked "C" describes a partial list of the conditions and symptoms that can result when there is an absence of life in the nerves.

A. Area Supplied by Nerves

B. Side View of Spine

C. Result of Nerve Impairment

SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT CAUSES MANY CONDITIONS

The spinal chart shown above is directed especially to those people who have tried to regain their health through methods other than chiropractic, and have failed. That failure should not lead to discouragement, but to greater determination to discover the fundamental cause of all disease.

Since the discovery of chiropractic, no one needs to feel that he or she is destined to be sick all their life. Remember, "Where there is life there is hope and he who has hope has everything."

Editorial opinions

Strawberry fest unites community

The Belleville Strawberry Festival ended a three-day run Sunday at several locations in the city of Belleville. Its promoters called it a very successful event, attracting up to 25,000 persons from the Belleville-Van Buren area and other nearby communities.

Because Associated Newspapers participated — its managing editor, D. G. Fassett, was master of ceremonies at the queen contest, and its representative in those two communities, Bob Ameen, finished third in the strawberry shortcake eating contest — we have some firsthand knowledge of that gala celebration.

In addition, we also were in close touch with its backers, especially Chuck Paas, well-known strawberry grower, who served as festival chairman.

The festival, despite some criticisms and complaints from those who attended, overall unified the residents of that area into a homogenous unit for the three days that it lasted.

That delicious, juicy red fruit known to all as the strawberry proved to be the glue which cemented everyone who attended into a single group of people with a common goal — to have three days of fun and entertainment for adults and children alike while glorifying one of the products which has put their community on the map economically.

Those working together to make the festival a success represented a broad spectrum of the citizens who make up the Belleville-Van Buren area, from priests and ministers to teenagers pitching in to do their share.

We wish to commend each and every individual and organization who contributed to making this year's Belleville Strawberry Festival half again bigger than the success it enjoyed in its first trial last year.

Working together on an area-wide project of this scope results in a notable accomplishment — everyone is an equal — and that feeling serves as an added incentive toward making all involved work that much harder to make the event as good as humanly possible.

Chuck Paas deserves a community vote of support for a job well done as overall chairman of the festival. Last year, he did a tremendous job as publicity chairman. His job this year is one of those that sometimes is taken for granted by the community and oftentimes proves to be a thankless chore. That same vote of thanks should go to everyone who helped in making this year's festival a community undertaking that all can be proud of.

In this same vein, we would urge other communities in our circulation area, in fact communities everywhere, to find a similar type community-wide project in which they can work toward a common goal together.

We, at Associated Newspapers, again pay tribute to those who labored and planned so long to make the Strawberry Festival successful and wish them the best of luck for next year's celebration.

Road widening: Unspoken costs

The current plight faced by Michigan Avenue Inkster businessmen points out a significant shortcoming within the state's highway department.

When the decision was made to widen Michigan Avenue, between Guley and Middlebelt roads, the Inkster Business Improvement Group (BIG) took its concerns about the project to the state.

For several months its attempts to communicate with elected officials were ignored by state bureaucrats and officials alike. When BIG finally did get the attention of Lansing officials, about all that came of it was apologies for the impending inconvenience that could permanently close the doors of several local businesses.

Well, today those Inkster merchants are in the middle of the road widening project, and reports indicate that several of them will not survive the loss of business that the road project has caused.

We at Associated Newspapers feel that some form of short-term help should be offered to the merchants.

While we certainly understand the long-range value of the Michigan Avenue widening, and even the eventual improved economic outlook for local businessmen that will result from the project, we feel the project will have been a failure, if it causes shops to close in Inkster.

For too long Inkster's leaders have been pleading for support for its industrial development base. At the same time, local merchants, many of whom have refused to leave the city in spite of dire predictions of things to come, have been facing a difficult, if not impossible, task—to remain profitable, and to provide local residents with local shops, while around them, creeping blight was appearing on the scene. The blight is caused by the "hit and run" business operators who had little concern for the city of its future.

It now appears that some of those fast and loose operators may have been right after all.

If the city and the state have such little concern for the businessmen of the community, maybe it was smart to move. But we think not.

We do not feel that it has to be that way.

We suggest that a coalition of local businessmen and city officials should make the trip to Lansing to corner their elected officials and gain short-term aid for local businessmen affected by the road widening project.

With all of the many projects that the state has funded, many of which provide little return for the local taxpayers, it would seem that the plight of local merchants should find a high priority with any elected officials who are concerned with the communities which they represent.

We are not suggesting another giveaway program. We are suggesting low-interest loans to help businessmen weather the Michigan Avenue storm.

After all, what good is a brand new highway if it is bordered with only derelict buildings which the state or federal government would have to remove eventually.

'Hunching' for ERA

This week's Guest Editorial is provided by Margaret Leduc of Romulus, Michigan.

Ms. Leduc is currently a junior at the University of Michigan, Dearborn, working toward her Bachelor of Arts Degree. She is majoring in Psychology and Sociology, and in her spare time is involved in several community organizations, and sits on the Board of Directors of the 'Fish program'.

Ms. Leduc is married and the mother of two girls.

By MARGARET LEDUC
Romulus, Mich.

I strongly disagree with your article about the ERA (Equal Rights Amendment) of May 24, 1978. You not only sound like a male chauvinist, but I would go to the full extent and call you a chauvinist. Every endeavor starts with a first step. The women's history has been one of disappointment. We started a long time ago for legal recognition and voting power. We made the mistake of allying ourselves with the black movement and being shoved aside for awhile.

We thought that the right to vote would help our cause and we are still discriminated against. An amendment to the constitution for recognition is a starting point for the status of equality of sexes.

To quote you, "If women are asking for legal recognition, they should talk to the many women attorneys." I ask you, Mr. Fassett, what am I to ask them, why don't we get equal pay? As you know, if a company wants to cut salaries, they hire women and children. Or do I ask these lawyers if they are getting paid comparable to their male counterparts?

Statistically the answer is no.

Do I ask them what they do in a large lawyer's corporation? Statistics again say they are doing the leg work and the background work, and little of the actual legal work. Do I ask them why there are fewer and fewer women in the power positions and governmental positions, such as city councils, congressional seats? and why isn't there a woman president? Why do these women in seats of power have to constantly prove to their colleagues that they can handle the elected posts?

"If women are seeking recognition for what they can contribute they should ask one of our governors." Mr. Fassett, I ask you, as a man, do men go around asking for recognition. (I think you meant beg instead of ask.) But on the other hand that might be a great thing for women to do.

The governors have the power to appoint judges, commissioners and assistant governors. More women should be considered for these posts, but should not have to beg for them. Women who are equal with men, wouldn't have to beg for recognition.

"If women are seeking equal treatment, they should ask the lady firefighter or cop."

Again I ask you, what do I ask them? Why are they constantly discouraged with rules designed only for men? Or should I ask a lady cop about all the crimes committed against women and their flight for equal justice under the law.

"But if women simply want to be men, they must ask God." Now, Mr. Fassett, I was unaware that you asked the Almighty for your sex before you were conceived. I have heard that joke also about standing in the right line in heaven before conception and receiving blue eyes and white skin, etc., but women don't want to be male.

From the moment I was conceived, to adult status, I have a lower mortality rate as a woman.

No thank you!
I don't want to die of cardiac arrest or stroke! You may have those things.

What do women want?
They want to be recognized and treated as equal human beings without constantly having to prove their worth. The first step is federal recognition with an amendment, the rest of the steps will have to fall in behind.

Why does the ERA Amendment need an extension?

That is a good question. Why have so many states foot dragged on the issue? Is it because the men in power are purposely foot dragging? Is it an attitude that overshadows the issue of equality? "Let's keep all the women home baking American apple pie, washing bottles, cleaning houses, with the best product, whitest-white for the wash, and don't let them in the real world."

Mr. Fassett, I ask you, if you are complaining of "hunching" as being unfair, explain to me handicaps in golf and bowling.

Why do we fight for this extension? Because we are so close. Only needing three more states to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment. Now when America was becoming a nation of its own, you better believe that our forefathers would use any and all possible extensions, hunches, and advantages that further their believes in freedom. Do you think those men who were the Continental Congress believed they were going to be there as long as they were? No. Did they have extensions? You better believe they did.

When this Amendment passes, just think of all the great things that will follow, possibly your granddaughter being President of United States!!!!

Editor's Log

I was, 'the next damn Yank'

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

In the newspaper business, one is in constant touch with the negative aspects of life and man's inhumanity toward man. For that reason it always has been a pleasure to relate the positive side of mankind. This is such a story. It happened to me, but it could have, and probably has, happened to many others.

The family and I had made the decision to visit Canada on our vacation. Like most, we had heard about the beauty of Quebec, the grandeur of Montreal, and the excitement of Toronto, and wanted the experience first hand.

With two weeks allocated for the trip, we left Detroit and spent the first night camping at Niagara Falls. That camping consisting of sipping cool libation within the air-conditioned interior of the family's fully equipped 20 foot travel trailer. Daniel Boone should have had it so bad!

The next day we headed toward Toronto, and an experience that we would not soon forget.

Aside from the many well publicized attractions of Toronto, the city also offered the visitor the opportunity of visiting the brand new barrier free zoological park that Toronto voters had so generously authorized the city to underwrite.

At the time of our trip to Toronto, the zoo had not yet been completed but was open, and the main attraction, a people mover that would carry the visitor through the park for a view of the animals in a natural environment, was undergoing final testing.

Since the park had not been officially opened, there were few signs directing the visitor to the park, and consequently we ended up lost, just a few miles from the zoo.

It was during this search for the park that the axle of the travel trailer broke. In the middle of a busy highway, the trailer lurched and fell to the pavement with the tire blowing out.

Grinding to a halt, completely obstructing the right side of the road, the car and trailer was now at the head of an instant traffic jam.

With the tire of the trailer tilted in and jammed against the inside of the tire well, it was impossible to remove.

On the scene arrived a pick-up truck with two local men who immediately came to my assistance. After diagnosing the problem, they instructed me to follow them to their home just down the road. Tire grinding, well-smoking, we slowly made the one mile trip.

With the trailer now on jacks in the side-yard of Jack Martin's 5-acre homestead, we proceeded to remove the axle with the help of Bill Bradley, Jack's ever-present buddy.

With an abundant supply of Molsen's Canadian, the three of us were able to remove the axle and transport it to a welder who was also a friend of Jack's. He repaired the axle and joined us in celebrating the occasion with another Molsen. By coincidence, his bill came to six beers, the exact amount consumed during repair operations.

We returned to Jack's place, and following a serious discussion concerning how best to proceed, punctuated by several more Molsens, we assembled the axle onto the trailer.

Repairs complete, we adjourned the gathering of trailer repairmen, spouses and children, to reconvene at Jack's barbecue. Well, it was three days later before we left that beautiful campground. For three days, we enjoyed the company of fine people who had opened their home and hearts to us.

My kids swam in the Martin's pool, enjoyed his collection of animals, fed the chickens, and had a good time.

We went on to view Old Town Quebec, Montreal, and Toronto. But as far as the Fassett family is concerned, the most beautiful spot in Canada is the side yard of a home owned by a Canadian named Jack Martin.

Just before we left Jack's home for the trip through Canada, I asked him why he had decided to stop and help me with the broken trailer.

He told me that he had had a similar experience in Boston. He and his family were vacationing there when his car engine blew up. "A Yank came to my aid. He invited my family into his home, and hosted all of us until I could get the motor repaired. I decided then," he continued, "to help the first Yank I saw who needed help, and you were him."

I have since made a similar resolution. I can no longer pass-by someone needing help without thinking of my experience in Canada.

It's too bad that everyone can't break an axle near Jack Martin's home.

The world would be a better place, if they did.

The house that Lightfoot built

To the Editor:
Thank you, JIM LIGHTFOOT:

Dear Jim,
For a long time in this Community many have thought of the auditorium in terms of bricks and mortar—in terms of tax dollars spent—in terms of criticism as to why the auditorium was built at all.

Jim, after watching all four performances of THE WIZARD OF OZ, I, along with so many others, happily realized this is THE HOUSE THAT LIGHTFOOT, HIS ASSISTANT WORKERS AND ALL THE CHILDREN PERFORMING HELP BUILD.

Thank you, Jim, for truly all the tax dollars that put the brick and mortar together to mold a building stands brilliant in light and alive with such performances as THE WIZARD OF OZ.

This community appreciates the love you so seriously give through your teaching and directing efforts that our children can so beautifully respond in performing.

Jim, in this Community realizes that your most brilliant direction began in the classroom ever so many years ago with all your energies inspiring each child to direct his own and her own performance. Through your serious dedication in directing and through the Art of Teaching you have given every parent comfort in knowing that our children are treated as individuals. And, to every child you have taught and directed you have encouraged his and her heart, his and her brain and his and her courage!

Remember when Charley went...

To the Editor:

This month marks the tenth anniversary of an event that will live forever in our hearts: the citizens of Belleville, led by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sienko, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mason, sent Charley Price to Disneyland.

The town may have forgotten, but we, his parents, never will.

The trip was the highlight of his life and reviewing his scrapbook in the years that followed was a great source of happiness to him. The generosity of a town is part of our precious remembrance of Charley, who died in August, 1976.

Because of all of you in Belleville, Charley's life was richer.

We hope, sir, that you will give some prominence to this message of thanks, so that our gratitude will reach all the groups and individuals who participated. With all our hearts, we thank each and every person.

I've seen people whose brains were apparently scrambled; maybe everyone should have the opportunity to witness such trauma. If people could see it, I'm sure they would agree with one young lady who said, "No way. Dope is dumb!"

PICTURE IT!! A life in bondage to the things of this world transformed by the power of the living God. Where there was anger, sorrow, guilt and hate there is now joy, peace and love. The hopeless has found hope. Frustration has given way to peace. Tears of defeat turn to tears of joy. Loneliness is removed because of the relationship with Jesus Christ.

Angels in heaven are rejoicing because a new member has been added to the family of God.

Satan has lost another battle! Jesus' name is glorified!

A beautiful picture isn't it? The picture of salvation, and yet, how often do we see it? How many lives are being transformed by the power of God in our community? One or two a week? Praise the Lord for them, but what about the others? What about the alcoholic with no where to turn but to his bottle? What about the teen-ager that thinks no one understands? What about the child that is confused because of a broken home or the elderly lady who sits alone because no one takes the time to care? What about the person who thinks hell is a word you say when you are mad or the "nice" family that lives down the block who thinks they are okay because they go to church?

2 net Moose honors

Two Belleville men have been awarded the highest and most coveted degrees of the Loyal Order of the Moose in the Solemn ceremony held at Moose Child City in Mooseheart, Ill., June 4.

Charles Morton and Neil MacNevin, members of the local Moose lodge for many years, were awarded the Pilgrim Degree of Merit for their outstanding service and continued devotion to the humanitarian programs of the fraternity.

Investiture of the Pilgrim class, sponsored by director Herbert W. Heilman, was held in the House of God, unique Children's Cathedral on the Mooseheart campus, under the leadership of Pilgrim Governor Paul P. Schmitz and a staff of past supreme governors.

The local Moose honorees were two of 216 members from all parts of the United States, Canada and Great Britain to receive the degree.

Walk has geology theme

Geology will be the theme of a family nature walk to be held at the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Park naturalist Bob Wittersheim will explain the geologic processes, which molded the landscape of the park as it is seen today. Soil samples will be taken to study various horizons.

Animals studied

"Animal Life in Summer" is a family program, suitable for young children, being offered at the nature center of Kensington Metropark near Milford every Thursday in July — starting July 6 at 1:30 p.m.

This will be an opportunity to observe those animals that live in the park and are active during the day. So, come along with the naturalists and discover how the animals that share the park with people have adapted to human activities.

Registration is required for these free programs.

For information or registration contact the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark at 685-1581 (Milford).

I have a feeling the angels aren't rejoicing too much over them. Satan isn't running in defeat either. In fact, Satan's probably sitting back with a smug smile on his face because he's winning without even fighting a battle.

What about Jesus' name? It's being glorified—in the church. We all know what a wonderful Savior we have. Oh yes, and then there's PTL and 700 Club and Christian Radio. All a person has to do is flip a switch and the message of salvation will flow into their livingrooms and, hopefully, their hearts. Trouble is, the devil is hanging around to make sure "Charlie's Angels" or "The Bionic Man" or "The Young and the Restless" show up first and get their attention.

Jesus said: "I have come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." (John 10:10) Who are they? The person fortunate enough to walk into the right channel at the right time, or turn to the right TV channel? NO!! Jesus said: "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." (John 12:32)

So whose responsibility is it to tell these people? The Bible says: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark 16:15) Are you the ye it is talking about? Does the shoe fit? If it does you better look quickly at Ezekiel 3:18 before you find yourself in trouble.

God says: "When I say unto the wicked, thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand."

You have responsibility! It's not something that can be left to the guy.

Did you know that Jesus said: "...I will build my church; and the gates of Hell will not prevail against it." (Matthew 16:18) But we can stop the building of the church, just by not going out. Was Jesus thinking of you when He said: "He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." (Matthew 12:30)

About now you are saying to yourself: "But I'm not very good at talking to people", or "I don't know my Bible well enough," or "I haven't been a Christian long enough." Don't worry about it. Jesus promised us that He would equip us for service and that He would be with us in Matthew 28:18-20: "All power is given unto me in heaven and earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Jesus commands us to go and He expects us to keep His commands as a sign of our love to Him (see John 14:15). He also promises to equip us. He doesn't promise it's always going to be easy. We may have to take up crosses or sacrifice something but then we do sing the song, "To Be Like Jesus", and He made the biggest sacrifice of all.

Jesus isn't calling a few. He is calling the entire Church to a great outreach ministry. Satan's going to have the victory unless YOU make a commitment to the Lord and the Body of Christ and say that whether I feel not qualified or not, and no matter what he tries to throw in my path to stop me, I WILL BE A WITNESS FOR JESUS CHRIST (see John 4:7). Before you say to yourself, "I hope Joe or Sally read this", remember: This was only written for one person...YOU.

is glorified!'

Offbeat travel...by balloon, hang glider

(Note: "Transportation Oddities" is the fourth in a series of 15 weekly articles on "Offbeat Michigan." These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and near-home travel.)

Traveling in Michigan can be as offbeat as floating in a hot air balloon, a trip by chairlift, hang gliding or riding a driverless people mover.

For a journey into the past, take a paddle wheel boat cruise or try a ride on a steam engine, horse-drawn carriage, Model T or old-fashioned trolley car.

To explore the world of hot air ballooning, contact one of three Southeast Michigan firms. Trips covering about eight miles and lasting up to two hours cost between $75 and $150 for one person. If the pilot carries two passengers in the wicker basket, the cost varies from $50 to $87.50 each.

Reservations can be made by calling Balloon Corp. of America, Flint (313-767-2120); Cameron Balloons US, Ann Arbor (313-995-0111), or Highamerica Ballooncenter, Rochester (313-852-0666).

A ride on the 8 10-foot chairlift to the summit of Copper Peak, the ski flying hill near Ironwood, offers a view of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota forests contrasted against the blue water of Lake Superior. For information, call (906) 932-3500.

A ride on the 810-foot chairlift to the summit of Copper Peak, the ski flying hill near Ironwood, offers a view of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota forests contrasted against the blue water of Lake Superior. For information, call (906) 932-3500.

For a different view of Lake Michigan, take hang gliding lessons at Warren Dunes State Park near Bridgman. A day's lesson from the Midwest School of Hang Gliding (616-426-3100) costs $50 and entails being strapped into a harness attached to a 30-foot-wide sail, then being coaxed off a 20-foot training slope for a try at soaring.

The computer-controlled electric people mover linking Dearborn's Fairlane Town Center shopping complex and the Hyatt Regency Hotel glides over 2,600 feet of elevated guideway in less than two minutes. There is no charge to ride the orange and white cars, which operate daily year-around.

Dearborn's Greenfield Village

(313-271-1620) offers several rides from the past. They include a 10-minute spin in a chauffeured Model T car, a 45-minute horse-drawn carriage tour, a ride on a train pulled by an 1873 steam engine and a cruise aboard the Suwanee, a restored 1888 paddle wheel riverboat.

Other paddle wheel boat rides include the Westwood River Queen (616-363-5104), which makes two-hour cruises on the Grand River at Grand Rapids, and the Au Sable River Queen boats (517-728-9871 or 739-7351), west of Oscoda at Foote and Five Channels dams.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (313-961-5865) can supply information about its paddle wheelers—the Dixie Belle at Metro Beach Metropark near Mount Clemens and the Island Queen at Kensington Metropark near Milford.

On Mackinac Island, where motor vehicles are banned, visitors can take a 1½-hour circle tour by horse-drawn carriage.

Other Michigan railroad attractions include the Boyne Valley Railroad (616-582-2232), which makes a 7.2-mile run between Boyne City and Boyne Falls, and the steam-fired Huckleberry Railroad (313-785-7803 or 736-7100), which passengers board at the Davison Depot in Historical Crossroads Village near Flint for a 9.5-mile round trip through Genesee Recreation Area.

Passengers on the Soo Locks Tour Trains (906-635-5912) ride into Canada across the International Bridge. A close-up view of the locks is provided by the Soo Locks Boat Tours (906-632-6301 or 632-2512), which pass right through the world's busiest and longest locks.

Another way to Canada is by excursion boat from Detroit to Bob-Lo Island in the Detroit River. Boats to the Canadian recreation island sail several times daily from Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day.

Passengers and autos can travel by ferry across the St. Clair River to Canada or across Lake Michigan to Wisconsin. Almost continuous ferry service is offered daily between these points: Algonac and Walpole Island-Wallaceburg, Ont.; Marine City and Sombra, Ont., and Roberts Landing and Port Lambton, Ont.

To get from Michigan to Wisconsin, take the Chessie System Autoferry (313-552-5000, Detroit; 616-456-8601, Grand Rapids, and 616-843-2521, Ludington) from Ludington to Milwaukee, Manitowoc and Keweenaw or ride the Ann Arbor carferry (800-632-0972) from Frankfort to Keweenaw. Both services operate year-around with regularly scheduled trips only during summer.

While the trip across Lake Michigan takes several hours, the Ironton Ferry crossing of Lake Charlevoix from Ironton to Boyde City takes less than five minutes. The ferry is pulled across the lake on cables, and the ride costs just 50 cents.

An investment in land is an investment in both today and tomorrow. It must fill your immediate needs, as well as be able to provide for future needs to your satisfaction. If you are buying land to build on, or buying land where there already is a house you will move into, make sure the area you buy in has what you want. Investigate schools if you have children, town or city politics or policies, zoning, recreational facilities, transportation facilities, growth potential, neighborhood trends, etc. The house you buy to live in involves more than just a building and the land—it involves your whole life, check it out.

School districts share state aid

Eight Western Wayne County school districts will join seven others in sharing $15,565,564 in state school aid for the final payment of the 1977-78 school year.

According to State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District), the financial aid payment represents four different kinds of education funds—regular state aid payments and Titles I and III payments under the Elementary Education Act of 1963. Payment dates over the last fiscal year were made on Aug. 1, Oct. 1,

Dec. 1, Feb. 1 and April 1. Since the June 1 payment is the final based on the 1977-78 fiscal, amounts could change on the next payment due in August, Faust said. The districts and the amounts they received were:

--Lincoln Consolidated School District, $254,155 in state aid and $25,600 in Title I money.

--Cherry Hill School District, $451,956 in state aid and $8,700 in Title I money.

--Inkster City School District, $630,726 in state aid and $296 in Title I money.

--Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $1,064,176 in state aid, $59,000 in Title I money and $10,878 in vocational education funds.

--Romulus Community Schools, $555,398 in state aid, $90,328 in Title I money and $17,256 in vocational education funds.

--Huron School District, $547,472 in state aid and $20,936 in Title I money.

Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $3,002,197 in state aid.

--Van Buren Public Schools, $661,532 in state aid and $17,209 in Title I money.

The Westland Democrat said he was satisfied with the amount of aid going to schools in the 13th Senatorial District, but noted there was a slight decrease from the 1976-77 fiscal year.

"We need all the educational dollars that can be provided to ensure the best possible education for our children. I know each school district makes the best use of its funding," Faust concluded.

Inflation is No. 1 problem

Residents of Michigan's 15th Congressional District consider inflation the nation's No. 1 problem, according to the results of an annual questionnaire survey, conducted by Congressman William D. Ford in his home district. This and other highlights of the opinion poll were reported by Congressman Ford in a newsletter sent to his constituents.

The survey was made in June, when Congressman Ford sent copies of a detailed questionnaire to each of the nearly 170,000 homes and businesses in his district. The results were tabulated by volunteer workers in his district office.

"I have sent out similar questionnaires each year since my election to Congress, and I consider it one of the most valuable tools I have to help determine the opinions of the people I represent," Congressman Ford said.

The results, as reported in the newsletter, are based on tabulation of the first 10,000 returns.

"We still are receiving a few questionnaires daily," Congressman Ford said, "but not enough to affect the percentage results."

In other questionnaire responses, Congressman Ford's constituents supported the Middle Income Student Assistance Act, opposed government-guaranteed profits for farmers, and favored legislation to curtail the "runaway plant" problem.

After inflation, the respondents listed energy, crime and drug abuse, unemployment and taxes as the nation's other leading problems.

Asked where they would cut the federal budget, a large majority cited foreign aid as the No. 1 target, followed by welfare programs, space exploration and military spending.

About one fifth of the responses came from housewives and another 12 percent from retirees.

In age brackets, the largest number came from those aged 45-60, closely followed by the 30-45 age group.

Motorcycle class set

A motorcycle rider course is available to teen-agers and adults in Wayne County.

The free course will teach present and potential motorcyclists the skills necessary to ride in traffic, including a session devoted to advanced maneuvers. Classroom and on-cycle experience are part of the course.

The Taylor Community Education is offering the course in two sessions, which will meet from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Truman High School, located at the corner of Goddard and Beech Daly roads, from June 26 through Aug. 4. The twenty-three hour course will be open to anyone of licensing age wishing to learn to ride a motorcycle. Teen-agers under 18 years of age will need parental consent.

Several motorcycle dealers are providing free loan motorcycles for use in the course, including Siegel's Inc. (Monroe) and Bright Kawasaki (Lincoln Park).

Successful graduates will be given course completion card making them eligible for insurance premium discounts offered by several motorcycle insurance companies. Students will use the Motorcycle Rider Course developed by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation.

A honey of a hobby

Now is the time to start up bee keeping

To bee keep or not to bee keep. If that is the question and the answer is yes, now is the time to get started. According to Gordon Wardell, Michigan State University apiculturist, new bee colonies should be established by early June.

Beginning beekeepers may be surprised to find that it doesn't take a lot of expensive equipment to get started. Essentials include a hive, foundation wax, two or three pounds of bees, a bee bonnet, gloves, a smoker, a sugar syrup feeder and a hive tool — a metal pry bar made for opening beehives and manipulating equipment. A beginner's setup, including bees, usually runs about $100 from bee supply houses.

"You may save a little money buying used equipment," Wardell pointed out. "And you don't have to put a used hive together yourself as you would have to do with a new one. Used equipment can be a source of disease problems, however. For your own protection, have used equipment inspected by the Michigan Department of Agriculture Plant Industry Division."

Also make sure that any used equipment you buy is standard sized. Ten frames per hive is standard. Nonstandard hives are very difficult to add to, and replacement parts are difficult, if not impossible, to acquire.

One way to minimize your chances of being stung is to visit the hive on warm, sunny days when most of the bees are likely to be out working. Another is to wear light colored clothing.

Also avoid visiting the bees when the barometer is falling. Bees can tell from changes in barometric pressure that a storm is coming, Wardell explained, and they get a little touchy.

The hive tool is necessary to open the hive and remove the frames in which the bees make their wax combs and store their honey. The bees seal up the hive and glue the frames in with a gummy substance called propolis, which they gather from trees.

The smoker produces large quantities of pleasant-smelling smoke. The smoke breaks the normal behavior pattern of the bees so they are not as aggressive as they might be and are less likely to sting. The smoke also covers up the alarm pheromone in the hive. This is a chemical scent that bees give off to indicate a disturbance in the hive.

Although beginning beekeepers may buy established colonies or captured swarms, it's more common to buy package bees. Packages usually contain two or three pounds of bees, with 7,500 bees per pound, a supply of sugar syrup and one queen bee. Although the bees can survive for quite a while in the package, "they get a little ornery after a week or more," Wardell noted. They should be installed in the hive as soon as possible after they arrive.

The first step is to spray them with sugar syrup to stick their wings together. (They will clean each other off in a short time.) Shake them to the bottom of the package and remove the little queen cage. Shake the bees into the bottom of the hive and replace the frames over them. Then open the queen cage and release her and her attendant workers into the hive. It also is possible to put the queen into the hive and let the bees release her by chewing a hole in the sugar plug at one end of the cage. Direct release is recommended, however.

"It is critical that the queen start laying eggs right away," Wardell explained. "The colony will be losing bees and not replacing them until 21 to 25 days after the queen begins to lay. Letting the bees release the queen delays the beginning of egg laying and population buildup."

New hives should be provided with foundation wax and a supply of sugar syrup to help the bees get established.

Foundation wax is a thin sheet of beeswax imprinted with the six-sided honeycomb pattern. The bees draw out this wax to build their combs. The cell outlines printed on the wax are the proper size for worker cells. If the bees work from scratch, they tend to build too many drone cells. Some drones are necessary to mate with the queen, but they do not take part in the pollen or nectar gathering, the wax making or comb building or any of the other work of the hive.

Feeding sugar syrup, made from 1½ parts sugar to one part water, enables the bees to start making wax and building cells for the queen to lay her eggs in. "A colony probably will need a quart of syrup every two to three days until nectar starts coming in," Wardell said. "Four or five days after the bees are installed, check to see that the queen is alive and laying eggs in a solid pattern. "If the queen is doing her job, almost every cell will have an egg in it."

"If only a cell here and there contains an egg, it's time to get a new queen."

The queen is critical to the success of a bee colony. Another important factor is the location of the hive. A southern exposure is best, and protection against the prevailing west winds is necessary. A site with morning sun and afternoon shade is ideal.

"In urban and suburban areas, hives often are put on roofs or near hedges that make the bees fly upward as they leave the hive," Wardell noted. "This keeps them from flying right at people level."

Once the hive is established, the beekeeper has to decide what kind of honey to produce. Extracted honey is spun from the combs by centrifuge, then filtered or strained. It is the most efficient way to harvest honey. The empty combs are replaced in the hive, so that the bees don't have to construct them again.

Section comb honey is the hardest to produce. The hive frames are filled with one-pound boxes in which the bees build their combs. The boxes can be easily broken from the frames, but they crowd the bees, which don't like working in such confined areas.

The third alternative is cut comb honey. The honeycomb is cut from the frames and the honey sold in the comb.

The color and flavor of the honey varies according to the time of year and the source of the nectar from which it was made. The major honey flow in Michigan occurs during July and early August, when honey made from clover, alfalfa and wild flowers is produced. A minor flow, produced from the flowers of tree fruits and dandelions, occurs in the spring. The fall honey flow, made from goldenrod and asters, tends to be darker and stronger tasting.

Garden Doctor says...

This week the Garden Doctor talks about:

Q: The leaves of our birch trees are getting brown. When we tear through the brown area the leaf separates into two parts.

A: This is the damage of the birch leaf miner, a small worm that eats away the green inner portion of the leaf. A spray of malathion, diazinon or lindane should protect the undamaged leaves.

Q: We have found some large brown beetles with pinchers. They crawl on the ground under our shade tree. Will they harm it?

A: You're probably seeing stag beetles which are about 1 inch long and crawl from the soil this time of year. They feed on dead wood and plant exudates so do not threaten your live trees. No control is required.

Q: The leaves are being clipped off our pepper plants but are then laid on the ground. Some stalks have no leaves left. How is this treated?

A: This sounds like the damage of climbing cutworm. This worm hides under the soil during the day and does its damage at night. The control is to place paper cups or tin cans with the bottoms removed around the stems. This barrier should deter them. For larger plantings, malathion or sevin can be sprayed on the stem and on the soil surface around the plants.

Q: The leaves on our tomatoes are starting to curl under. Otherwise the plant looks fine. What's wrong?

A: Look on the undersides of the leaves for aphids. Aphids are small soft-bodied insects that can be green, black, or pink. Some of them have wings. All of them suck the juices from the leaves. Control them with malathion or diazinon. A light infestation can be knocked to the ground with a sharp stream of water from the garden hose.

Q: Patches of our periwinkle are wilting and the stems are dead. Will this spread?

A: It will spread if weather conditions are favorable for the disease. This sounds like root and stem rot. Cut away all the affected above-ground tissue and drench benomyl into the soil in these areas.

Mrs. Doris McHenry questioned the Library payment, as she has books she would like to donate to a Library.

Mr. Drake asked what the total amount in monies the Township could expect.

Mr. Pringle asked if any of the monies would go to clean up the blight areas in the Township and if any would be used did they intend to hire some one to work on the blight problem.

Mrs. Drake asked if the Township Board had given any thought to a recreation building for winter-time activities.

Supervisor Demski asked if there were any more questions from the floor. No more questions were forthcoming so a motion was in order.

Motion by Williams, supported by Overman the Board approve the Federal Revenue Sharing Budget Intended Use as submitted by Supervisor Demski.

Hall abstained. Motion carried.

Model A's mark 50th

As part of the observance of its 75th anniversary on June 16, Ford Motor Co. has published a new book about the American revolution, "A Tribute to America."
In its introduction, Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, acknowledges the company's "debt of gratitude to the heroic patriots who conceived, fought and won the freedoms that make America unique."
Ford notes that his grandfather, Henry Ford, who founded the company in 1903, "had skill, drive and the capacity for hard work, but most important, he was fortunate to live in a country where those qualities were, and still are, given free rein."
A 192-page book with 56 full-color illustrations and many black-and-white drawings, "A Tribute to America" is based on a series of articles which appeared in Ford Times.

The book has been published in a limited edition and is available at $9.95 a copy from Ford Books, Box 60, Dearborn 48121.

Romulus Girl Scout applauded for heroics

June 7 was a special day for 11-year-old Debbie Sumner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sumner of 12800 Hannan, Romulus. It was special because her grandmother, Mrs. Monie Shafer of Grayling, was there to celebrate it with her.

It was almost a year ago that Mr. and Mrs. Shafer and the Sumner family were paddling their way down the Manistee River near Grayling.

"It was a nice day when we started," said Ed Sumner. "Later we found out that there had been a tornado in Grayling. We—my wife and younger daughter Kathy—were in the canoe just ahead of my wife's parents and Debbie. We put Debbie in their canoe because she is a good swimmer."

Mrs. Shafer continued explaining that their canoe had tipped over and because she "can't swim a lick" was sure she would drown.

At the particular spot where their canoe had tipped, the water was deep and the current was swift. Recognizing the situation her grandma was in, Debbie immediately swam over to her and held her head above the water until her dad could reach them.

Debbie lost her camera and her jacket that day, but not her grandma.

And that was why the recent celebration—to honor Debbie for her "clear thinking, courage and alert reactions precipitating this heroic deed" was held. That's how the letter read recommending that she be presented the Honorable Mention Award for Lifesaving by the Girl Scouts of the United States of America.

What did Debbie who has been a Girl Scout for four years have to say about the whole incident? "I did the best I could. I was scared."

But those who came to honor Debbie at the luncheon that day were less tongue-tied about her heroism.

Her troop leader for three years,

Dulce Jacobson of Belleville, said, "Debbie couldn't understand what all the fuss was about. She figures she did what anybody else would do. That's Debbie for you. She is an absolute delight."

Gerry Grieve, Southern Wayne and Monroe Area Association Chairman for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, said "I've watched Debbie grow from a Brownie Girl Scout to a Junior and now to a Cadette Girl Scout and she has always worked well with her troop and is liked by all the girls."

Clyde Batzer, Haggerty Elementary School principal, said, "I'm very proud of Debbie. It's really important that she knew what to do in the emergency and went ahead and did it."

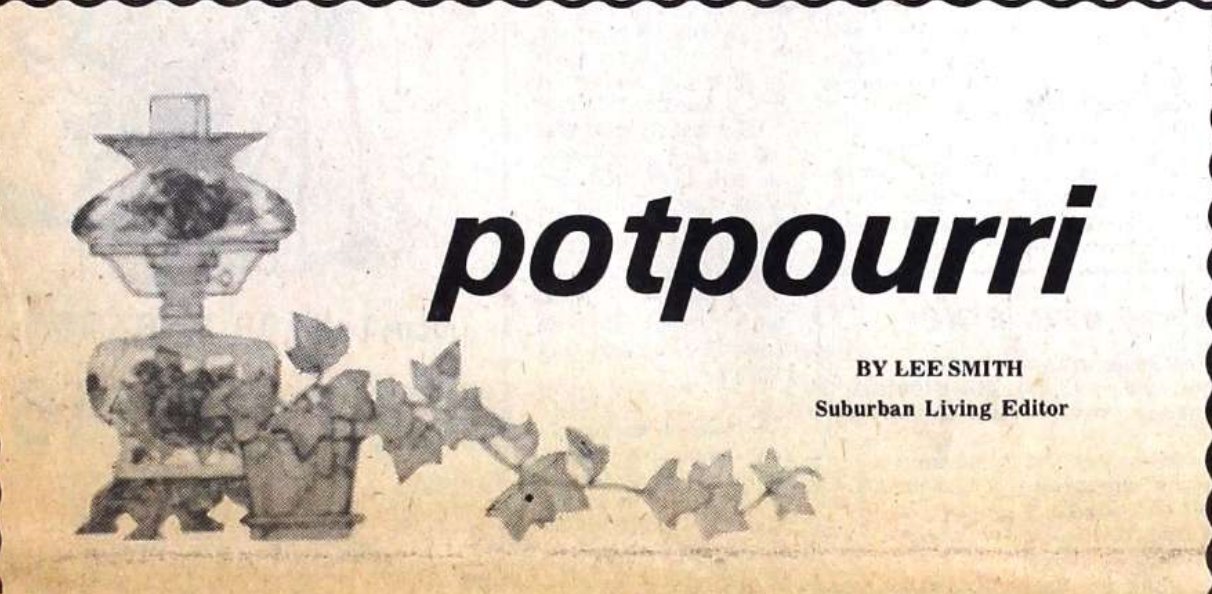

Presenting the award to Debbie was Marilou Andersen, second vice president, who summed up the feelings of all that day. "Debbie," she said, "you are a special girl who has done a special deed and we are all very proud of you."

She's a heroine

Eleven-year-old Debbie Sumner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sumner of 12800 Hannan Rd., Romulus, was honored at a recent Girl Scout luncheon when she received the Honorable Mention Award for Lifesaving. A true-to-life heroine, Debbie was responsible for rescuing her grandmother during a canoe accident on the Manistee River near Grayling. Among those present for the luncheon were Gerry Grieve (left), Southern Wayne and Monroe Area Association Chairman for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, and Dulce Jacobson of Belleville (right), troop leader and troop services director. A Cadette Girl Scout, Debbie is a student at Haggerty Elementary School.

More and more of late, I find myself experiencing those eerie feeling of de je vous—that tingling sensation of "I've done this BEFORE!" But I guess when you get this far on life's map, you're bound to have a few re-runs of past events.

Then, too, there are those times when a certain smell, song, phrase or gesture brings back a whole raft of memories—often from as far back as school bus days.

Or when a friend or relative makes a suggestion which is strongly reminiscent of mom's or dad's hints in your younger days.

For instance, just recently a pal suggested codliver oil as a remedy for arthritis. And my initial reaction, "ugh, pooh, yek!", immediately time-capsuled me back to about age 9 or 10.

My brothers and I had been laced with liquid codliver oil ever since our births and we managed to get our doses down each morning despite the unappealing fish taste and odor.

Then came the day when Mom arrived home with a "surprise" for us—capsules of codliver oil in those cute little football shapes. Now we wouldn't HAVE to taste or smell the darn stuff—just pop 'em and swallow.

HA! That worked fine for my four lathery-throated brothers but for me it was sheer agony trying to get that crazy mini-pigskin down the tube. Try as I might, it would just bounce right back up on my tongue as I gaggingly attempted my third and fourth downs.

I simply could not score with the amber-filled gems and ended up having to go the bite-chew-swallow-taste routine. Brothers-four, who thought it all pretty hilarious, were eventually replaced by the daughters-three who (never having savored codliver oil) consider my aversion to pills of any sort pretty quirky.

Have you noticed how many, many more motorists are running red lights lately? For years those same maniacs have been brazening their way through amber signals and having found THAT to work, are now playing traffic light roulette—with OUR lives!

The five most dangerous words in the English language, according to the American Cancer Society—"Maybe it will go away."

On one of our rare treks to Evanston, Ill. to see our daughter and son-in-law, they took us to a delightful spot for Sunday brunch which Northwestern University-ites seem to favor. Bearing the rather unorthodox title of "Fritz, That's It!", the place offers five terrific entrees which one is invited to embellish to his/her heart's content by repeated trips to the tiered buffet.

One of the dishes we particularly liked was a banana-coconut mixture which Luanne and I tasted and re-tasted to determine the seasonings and condiments.

We liked it so well (it's great with pork or ham) that we'd like to share our findings with you. That "something different" you want every so often, it's super easy to make and you can add-to or subtract-from our version as you please.

coconut as you prefer. Tie the two together (mix lightly) with a couple dollops of sour cream (don't overdo) which has been mixed with about one-eighth teaspoon cinnamon (start out with a little and if you prefer more, add it!)

The nuts and raisins are ingredients we decided to add; they were not in Fritz's concoction, but we like them. Serve on perky lettuce leaves or with some fresh watercress and, voila!, you've created a super side dish. This amount will serve 4 to 6 people.

On reading the Sunday magazine section of the Big City paper on June 4, I read that "If you are willing (and able) to sit for up to two hours with an ice-pack on your lip, you can zap a pesky cold sore before it develops." An Israeli physician was reporting no failures with this method, provided ice treatment was started at the first awareness of symptoms.

That was June 4. On June 7 (power of suggestion?) I felt the first wee swelling of a cold sore (fever blister? staph infection?) Aha! (I cried inwardly) now I know just what to do to bag this thing before it inflates.

So, with my improvised ice pack, I sat for two whole hours while my mouth (shades of Gerry Miller's office!) went slowly from numbness to paralysis. It was great fun for the family—hubby enjoyed a serenely peaceful evening and when Carol came in, her unfunny remark was, "What happened, Mom? Did you fall off another bike?"

Well, the moral of this whole segment is—ice packs a cold sore do not eliminate; at least for me and my body chemistry. The very next day at the E-R office I appeared with a triple-header—not just one little coldsore, but THREE—and today (again at the office and a whole week later) I have an unappealing scab to show for the 2-hour silence and week-long disfigurement.

(And I can just hear what you're saying, Steve. "At least Bert had TWO HOURS of bliss!")

To those three handsome gentlemen, WR, BB and KO, with whom I share a June birthday—hope your day was, as nice as mine. I chalked up several hundred calories by devouring the mountainous banana split (my downfall) which Number-Three-Daughter "built" for me.

HELP! That gardening buff I'm wed to walked in last night with the first evidence of the edible peapods I asked him to plant. Other than using them in Oriental cooking or atop casseroles, what ELSE can I do with them? Eaten raw, that first pod was tender, crisp, sweet and delicious; but I can't just keep eating 'em THAT way. Suggestions...

Like espionage, intrigue and edge-of-your-seat reading? Get yourself one of Robert Ludlum's novels—Gemini Contenders, Matlock Paper, Chancellor Manuscript, Osterman Weekend, etc. For men and women alike—good summer reading. Warning: NOT particularly "relaxing" fiction.

THE BOTTOM LINE—If you think for one minute you can understand teenagers, you have it timed about right!

Summer reading program set "Up, Up and Away — with Books" is the theme this year for the Belleville Library's annual summer reading program. Designed to encourage students to read during the summer, the program stresses the enjoyment of reading.

The program features displays and will be highlighted by a party and a balloon launch at the end of the summer. To recognize the achievement of the students, the library will award certificates which are sent to the individual schools for presentation.

Students participating in the summer reading program are expected to read 10 books at their own reading level over the summer. They must register at the library where a record of their reading will be kept.

All students who will be in grades two through nine are eligible. The last day to register is Friday, July 5.

In the past, participation has been very good. The staff looks forward to its most successful summer ever.

Phil Grillo earns BA from MSU

Phillip E. Grillo, 22, a graduate of Belleville High School's class of 1974, was among those receiving degrees June 10 at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

The son of Dr. Phillip Grillo of Denton Road, Belleville, he earned his bachelor of arts degree in social planning with special emphasis on urban planning.

He was honored by being on the Dean's List and also served on the Student Council for three years as representative on student affairs and curriculum.

His studies included a comprehensive course of study abroad on government in Stockholm, Sweden and on urban planning in Arlington, a suburb of Boston, Mass. which was a acknowledged with high honors.

This summer he will be engaged in an interim project under a federal grant on the historical preservation project in Manchester, Mich. After this he plans to enter into post-graduate school to obtain his master's degree in urban planning.

Third son born to Evanses

The birth of their third son, Ryan Ashley, is announced by Romulus residents Richard and Joyce Evans of 9476 Barry.

The newest addition to the family arrived at 11:45 p.m. June 12 at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne; weighing 9 lbs., 9½ ozs. and measuring 23 inches in length.

On hand to welcome their new brother home were 5-year-old Richard and 3-year-old Christopher.

Their mother, the former Joyce Ashley, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ashley of Romulus. The paternal grandparents, who reside in Winter Park, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans Sr. The boys' great-grandmother is Mrs. Maggie Walker of Lincoln Park.

Pork for your grill

Barbecuing is one of America's most popular summertime activities. It's also one of the most enjoyable and easiest ways to cook. The following recipe is practically a complete meal of skewer-meat and vegetables that are cooked and served together.

The first task of the outdoor chef is to build a fire. Start at least a half hour before you want to begin cooking. Be sure the ashes of the previous fire have been cleaned out so your coals will be properly vented. Many people line their grills with heavy-duty foil so the ashes can be disposed of easily. Pile the charcoal briquets in a high mound in the center of the grill, sprinkle with starter fluid and ignite. When the coals have turned white, knock the mound down and smooth the briquets in the grill. Set the grating over the coals and you are ready to cook. To avoid sticking it is helpful to coat the grating with vegetable oil before setting it in place.

Serve these pork kebabs with rice and a salad. Drink iced tea, beer, a chilled chablis or a cooled Gamay Beaujolais.

Skewered Barbecued Pork

Degree of difficulty: Easy

Time: 45 minutes

Servings: Twelve

Cost: Inexpensive

Ingredients:

4 pounds boneless pork, lean, preferably shoulder, cut into 1-½ inch cubes

4 bay leaves

1 teaspoon oregano

1 teaspoon basil

2 cloves garlic, finely minced

Salt and pepper

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 cup dry white wine

½ cup vegetable oil, preferably olive oil or peanut oil

24 cherry tomatoes

24 1-½ inch squares of red bell pepper (you can also use green pepper)

14 1-½ inch squares of onion

o In a large bowl mix the bay leaves, oregano, basil, garlic, salt, pepper, lemon juice, wine and oil. Add the cubed pork and stir to coat each piece.

o Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate at least 4 hours and preferably overnight.

o When ready to barbecue, arrange the meat on 12 skewers alternating with tomatoes, peppers and onion.

o Grill over hot charcoal until the pork is brown on all sides (you will have to turn the skewers occasionally) and thoroughly cooked.

For ABWA

Rosemary Shinn 'Woman of Year'

Members of the Huron Valley Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) named Rosemary Shinn as their 1978-79 "Woman of the Year" at the group's regular meeting at Nickerson Farms Restaurant in Belleville.

The annual award is bestowed on a member who the group feels is the most outstanding in her achievements in both the business world and ABWA activities.

Mrs. Shinn transferred to the local chapter when she and her family moved here from San Francisco, Calif. in 1974. She has served in many capacities, has contributed much of her talent to further the cause of ABWA and currently serves as bulletin chairman.

A Kelly Girl, the honoree is temporarily working for the Ypsilanti Township Treasurer's office.

Quotes worth quoting...

"There are some personalities so perverse that they would rather be envied than happy and will endure all kinds of private tortures so long as they can present a public image of success and achievement."

Sydney Harris said it.

Scholarship winners

Each year the Belleville Rotary Club awards two $500 scholarships to graduating seniors at Belleville High School. This year's recipients were Suzy Besson (second from left) the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Besson of 53 Potter Dr., Belleville, and Rita Sietz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sietz of 19380 Sumpter Rd., Belleville. Bernard Boyd, Rotary president, (left) and Ray Kohr, chairman of the scholarships and awards committee, made the presentation at a recent dinner meeting at which the two young women were guests of honor. Miss Sietz plans to attend Western Michigan University this fall while Miss Besson will enroll in Wayne State University's College of Pharmacy. Both were members of the BHS National Honor Society and were among those graduating with honors on June 8.

BPW sends BHS junior to Girls State

MISS FULLER

Deborah Fuller of 1811 Patrick, Ypsilanti, was selected by the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club to attend the 38th session of the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State on the campus of Olivet College in Olivet, Mich. The meeting was held June 10 thru June 18.

Miss Fuller chosen from girls in the junior class at Belleville High School where she has been a member of the Honor Society, secretary of her class, and an active member of both the Symphony and Marching Bands. She traveled with the band to Disney World in 1977 and to Mexico City this spring of 1978.

She has enjoyed girls sports in high school, consisting of varsity basketball, volleyball and softball. Her hobbies are camping, fishing, swimming and gardening.

Girls State was established in 1941, to give 11th grade girls a practical experience in the problems of self-government as operated in Michigan. Each of the 500 girls attending this session was assigned to a mythical party, and to a county and city. The citizens nominate and elect various city, county and state officials. They are instructed in the duties of the various functions of each public office in the state of Michigan.

Two girls were to be selected from Michigan Girls State to attend Girls Nation to be held at American University in Washington D.C. this summer. The American Legion Auxiliary Unit endorsing Deborah is Huron Valley 231, located in New Boston.

This is the first time a Belleville High School girl has attended Girls State, however, it is hopeful it may continue next year.

aid Helping Hand

A number of new baby layette items have been added to the diminishing inventory at the Helping Hand, Inc. of Romulus, thanks to the students in Mrs. Phyllis Cebula's sewing class at Romulus High School. Caught in action by our photographer Tom Greenwood last week were (above from left) Joan Bridenhal and Kim Wood who were adding the finishing touches to a baby blanket they had made. In the lower photo, Mrs. Connie Moore (left) who was assisting with the class that day, looks over the handiwork of Wayne Jones who was busy sewing bibs. Each semester the class puts its talents toward creating items for the baby layette program at Helping Hand. A non-profit organization, HH has served Romulus and surrounding communities for several years by providing free clothing to the needy. The baby layette program to aid the less fortunate new mother is dependent on contributions of new clothing, materials and sewing supplies in order to continue. The Helping Hand asks that anyone interested in donating such items contact Florence Klein or Barbara Zagar at 941-5323 during regular business hours.

Know your state law

Environmental damage: You have recourse

(This is one of a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affair should consult with a private attorney.)

By ATT. GEN.
FRANK J. KELLEY

Our country was founded on the principle of freedom, economic as well as political. Heralded as the "land of opportunity," many of our forefathers, faced great personal risk and sacrifice to come here and take advantage of the economic opportunities America offered.

In recent years, however, there has been increasing concern about the toll our way of life is taking on the environment.

Once familiar only to biologists, topics like ecology and solar energy are now discussed in third grade classrooms. Quality of life and preserving our environment are gaining importance as national priorities.

Under ancient law, unless directly damaged, a person had no legal recourse to halt destruction of the environment. Thus, as long as we as individuals were not personally harmed, it was possible for a developer to strip wild areas of all vegetation, fill in marshlands and do whatever else they chose to precious natural resources without fear of government intervention.

But when Michigan's Constitution was revised in 1963, drafters of the new document had the foresight to recognize that environmental protection was becoming an important issue. At that time, they wrote a clause into the new constitution protecting the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

And in 1970, the State Legislature passed the Environmental Protection Act, making Michigan the first state to recognize a citizen's personal right to protect the environment. Michigan's Environmental Protection Act specifically allows any person or unit of government to file a lawsuit to halt actual and threatened pollution, impairment or destruction of our environment, regardless of whether it harms him or her personally.

Courts have long held that no one has the right to pollute another person's property or water. By affording them the legal means to prosecute offenders, Michigan's Environmental Protection Act has taken this one step further, it gives citizens the opportunity to protect the resources of our state.

As our Supreme Court has said:

"The Michigan Environmental Protection Act does more than . . . grant equitable powers to the circuit courts, it also imposes a duty on individuals and organizations both in the public and private sector to prevent or minimize degradation of the environment."

4-H Days to show off chip making

They aren't organic or natural, but they are tasty and their freshness can't be beat.

They are homemade potato chips. Larry Copeland, who'll be teaching folks how to make them June 24 during Michigan State University's 4-H Energy Days '78, says people will be delighted by them.

According to Copeland, MSU crop and soil science professor, most people think the freshly made potato chips are as good or better than any others.

Copeland, who calls himself a potato chip connoisseur, will demonstrate how to use a manually operated slicer that can be used in the home. But there is more to making potato chips than getting perfect slices and tossing them into a deep-fat fry.

"There is a proper technique in maintaining and preparing potatoes," he said. "Potatoes must be stored at a certain temperature or they will become dark in the boiling process."

Copeland will teach the ins and outs of proper potato buying and care that will result in a quality of chips that most people have never been able to appreciate. Even those who can resist the temptation of eating more than one can appreciate homemade chips.

"People shouldn't want to store them for very long, so they can make up just enough to eat each time," he said.

Copeland will teach his potato chip making art from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in MSU's Spartan Stadium.

Other highlights of the 4-H Energy Days '78 program June 23 and 24 include Friday's workshops on solar and wind energy, building electric cars and bicycling.

On Friday and Saturday, more than 60 different commercial energy exhibits including a solar greenhouse, wood-burning stoves and furnaces, insulation and many other items will be on display in Spartan Stadium.

On Saturday, a special program features demonstrations, exhibits and performances by thousands of 4-H'ers from around the state. Activities include bicycle racing, dog relays, omelet making and applying clown make-up.

Energy Days '78 is sponsored by the MSU Service's 4-H Youth with the Michigan Cooperative Extension Program in cooperation Energy Administration.

RELAXATION ODDITIES-HELPFUL TIPS

By Joy Miller
A game that's beginning to shoot up in popularity is volleyball. A particularly American game, it was invented by a Massachusetts YWCA instructor in 1895. It got its name because his players "volleyed" the ball over the net.

A good tip when organizing a beach volleyball game is to place all your tall men in one row, as players rotate after the serve. Since you have three chances to get the ball over, always try and pass the ball to a net man so he can spike it over the net for a point.

State baseball title eludes Canton

Pensive mood

Surveying the field is Plymouth Canton's slugging phenomenon Scotty Collins who recently was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles. Collins, who handles the shortstop position for the Chiefs, also has a full-ride scholarship to the University of Missouri, but when this shot was taken he was concerned about a tough Flint Southwestern team which managed to eke out a 1-0 victory in the semi-finals of the State Class A baseball championships staged last Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial field. Flint past the test and won its first state title by knocking off East Kentwood in the finals 7-0.

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

What's that adage about those who hesitate? According to the ancient Chinese they lose.

And it's too bad that Canton, Plymouth Canton, that is had forgotten about the ancient Chinese proverb; after all Canton was reportedly named after the ancient city in China.

One small pause - a hesitation - in the seventh made a big difference Saturday in the semi-finals of the Class A state baseball championships which pitted Canton against Flint Southwestern.

Trailing 1-0 in the last inning, Canton came alive when Rusty Mandle led off the inning by blasting pitcher Ruben Luma's fastball 385 yards but as he rounded second he paused to see where the ball was.

Mandle went on to third where he was thrown out by mere inches.

Luma quelled the Canton rally and preserved the 1-0 victory, sending his team into the finals against East Kentwood which ousted Hazel Park. East Kentwood was no match for the mighty Colts, ranked No.1 in the state before the tournament.

Coach Red Rettenmund's team won their first state baseball title by blanking East Kentwood 7-0.

Canton Coach Fred Crissey, whose Chiefs wrapped up the year with a superlative 26-6 over-all record, was pleased with his team's effort.

"We played an excellent game and it was a good game to watch," Crissey pointed out. "We had our opportunities like the one in the seventh inning - and, I would like to make it clear that Rusty wasn't at fault for hesitating at second. We just got our signals mixed up."

The game developed into a pitcher's duel between Canton's Scotty Dawson and Luma who each gave up three hits. What proved to be Dawson and Canton's demise was another miscue in the fifth inning which led to the game's lone run. A single, stolen base, and with the Canton infield looking for the bunt, gave the alert Flint baserunner an opportunity to sneak over to an unguarded third base.

Then, Dawson got the next two batters but gave up a game-winning single to Chuck Cardenas who drilled the ball up the middle.

Canton also threatened in the first inning when Scotty Collins doubled but was stranded on base. Catcher Jeff Campbell got the only other Canton hit, a single in the top of the fifth inning.

Ironically, though Flint Southwestern and Canton have had some excellent teams in the past, neither has been able to get out of the district previously.

"We've been in the district finals almost every year," Crissey said, "but this is the furthest any of my teams have ever gone. And when I talked to Marv (Marv Rettenmund, Flint Southwestern Coach), he also told me that was the same case with his ball clubs."

Crissey: 'We had our opportunities'

Not this time

Blocking off the plate, Plymouth Canton senior catcher Jeff Campbell prepares to tag out a Flint Southwestern base runner in last Saturday's prelude to the Class A State Championship. Though Campbell got his man, the Chiefs lost a heartbreaker to the No.1 ranked team in the state, 1-0. Southwestern then proceeded to whip East Kentwood 7-0 to capture the 1978 Michigan High School Athletic Association "A" state crown. Canton, which carried a 25-4 record into the state semi-finals wound up the year with a superb 25-5 record.

Cherry Hill places 5 on All Tri-River team

Cherry Hill, which captured the Tri-River Conference girls' softball championship outright, placed five of its players on the first team all-conference honor roll.

From Coach Jan Zawalski's championship lineup, the league coaches drafted senior Eileen O'Brien as the first team pitcher.

Also honored were pitchers Teri East (Schafer), Lisa Schwab (Crestwood), and Jeri Baker (Riverside).

Cherry Hill's Lisa Porcaro holds down the first baseman position while honorable mentions were awarded to Meg Daly of Garden City West and Alice Fortner of Southgate.

The shortstop honors went to Schafer's Mary Gottlob and honorable mention was presented to Doreen Mozora (Crestwood), Walton (Southgate) and Joanne Anderson (Garden City West).

Cindy Lillis, a Cherry Hill outfielder, was one of four outfielders named to the all-conference team. Also picked are Cheryl Gronaw (Crestwood), Diane Catarino (Schafer), Michelle Malewski (Crestwood), while Debbie Flack (Garden City West) and Lisa Hollenback (Crestwood) were honorable mention.

Kim Waddell, a Southgate junior, was the top catcher in the league. Honorable mention went to Nancy Foresi (Schafer), Anita MacIntosh (Crestwood) and Rose Verda (Garden City West).

Cherry Hill's Marge Jones was selected as the first string second baseman while Lisa Riva (Riverside), Debbie Watkins (Garden City West) and Corky Twardzicki (Crestwood) were awarded honorable mentions.

Terry Corp, another Cherry Hill standout, earned recognition as the top third baseman and Crestwood's Lisa Benza was given honorable mention.

Cathy Gale (Riverside) and Denise Knjawa (Southgate) were selected as the league's utility and Sheri Sikes (Garden City West), Sharon Wiggins (Crestwood) and Debbie Behn (Southgate) were honorable mention in that position.

Westland makes up rainouts

Perfect weather has enabled the Westland women and men's softball teams an opportunity to make up games recently rained out.

Unfortunately for Westway Trucking, it ran up against unbeaten Studio Lounge which had no difficulty chalking up its fifth straight victory in the women's league, 25-1.

It was no contest after the third inning when Studio erupted for 12 runs and built up a 15-0 lead thanks to the hot-hitting by Val Finfrock, Jo Snow and Sharon Turflinger who each had four hits for the winners. One of Turflinger's hit was a circuit clout and she finished the evening with five runs batted in.

Westway avoided the shutout by scoring one run in the bottom of the fifth inning. Frinfrock gave up seven hits, including an RBI single to Linda Gruvstead, and singles to Carol Carney and Lou Nagy.

Once-defeated J & D Auto roared back and humbled Hudson's of Westland 30-2 for its fourth win in five starts. Pitcher Linda Sylvester was in control all the way as her teammates staked her to six runs in the opening inning and got 13 more in the third.

Pat Gross hammered a grand slam homer for the winners for one of three hits and also out another ball in orbit for a four-bagger. She personally accounted for seven RBIs. Donna Thompson and Nan Newsom also homered for the winner. Cindy Lillis contributed three hits as pitcher Linda Sylvester gave up six safeties to the losers.

Barb Wray paced the loser's assault with a homer and single, while teammate Chris Watts chipped in with a pair of doubles.

Losing pitcher Doris Madar was mauled by the J & D battery which counted 28 hits before the night was over.

In other action, Johnny Shell shocked Westland Lock and Key 20-5 as Peggy McMahon homered and doubled twice for the winners. Sister Nancy McMahon accounted for three RBIs on a single, double and triple and Sue Chopp bagged two hits.

Tammy Mauno led a 17-hit Westland assault as she belted four hits and scored four of the five runs for the losers. Karen Holt and Donna Fisher sacked three and two hits, respectively.

The Sports Meridian

Second guessing the second guessers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

It is an usual fact of sports life that the second guessers always flock to point out the "ifs" of a crucial game post facto.

And they (the second-guessers) got plenty of ammunition Saturday at the State Class A baseball finals, especially in the semi-finals where Plymouth Canton was given the task to stop top-ranked Flint Southwestern.

One of the arguable plays occurred in the top of the seventh when Rusty Mandle led off and blasted the ball some 385 yards - and it looked like the Chiefs were well on their way to erasing a crucial 1-0 deficit.

FRED CRISSEY

But, the suspense drama, came to a devastating end for Canton Coach Fred Crissey and Mandle, who hesitated or got his signals mixed up or a combination of both which ultimately led to a close play at third. Mandle was called out by inches on the play and that sounded a knell for the Chiefs hopes of eliminating Southwestern from the tournament and advancing to the finals.

The second guessers also say that Canton would have whipped East Kentwood, which had beaten Hazel Park in the other bracket, if the two teams had met in the finals.

Of course, that's pure speculation - but interesting speculation at that.

However, Crissey, who has been around the diamonds for heaps of years and is a master of settling arguments - a coach with seven of his own kids - has to be a just arbitrator, sends this basic message: "Don't blame the kid (Mandle) because I was the one who hesitated and didn't give him the green light. If there is anyone who should take blame for that play, it's me and not him."

That should put the cuffs on any argument, fans.

What about the state's format for the playoffs, would Crissey like to see a change?

Basically, I'm satisfied," Crissey said. "But it's ironic that I was talking to Marv (Marv Rettenmund, Flint Southwestern head coach) before the game and he confessed to me that though he has had some excellent ball clubs in the past this is the first time he has ever come so far.

"And, of course, we're in the same shoes," Crissey continued. "We have had some excellent ball clubs and I know there are others who have experienced the same thing - coming up with an excellent team but losing out in the districts."

"So I feel that the tournament should be a "seeded one" or, if we can't do that, why not open it up to the team or teams that finish first and second in their respective leagues. It would add a new dimension to league championships and eliminate the possibility of a team which has only one good pitcher of going all the way."

It's interesting - wonder if that august body, the Michigan High School Athletic Association which controls the destiny of prep athletics in the state - is listening.

And before we leave the high school baseball diamonds for another year, we're busy finalizing our 1978 All-Area team.

The line-up will be ready for our fans next week. Don't miss it, it promises to be an explosive one.

Canfield is Great Lakes' MVP

Wayne hurler also named all-state

The accolades continue to come in for Jim Canfield, Wayne Memorial's superb hurler.

Canfield, a 6-1, 183-pound pitcher, was named as the Great Lakes 8 Conference's unanimous selection as the Most Valuable Player.

Recently drafted by the Kansas City Royals, Canfield set school records for most victories and most strikeouts during one season while amassing a perfect 5-0 conference record and a 10-0 over-all mark. He sported a .97 ERA, struck out 51 in 36 innings and pitched four complete games in the conference.

Not only was Canfield unbeatable on the mound during the 1978 campaign, he was outstanding at the plate as well where he hit .326 for the season. He collected 17 hits, scored seven runs, had three doubles and a homer in batting in 11 runs.

Canfield was the only member of Coach Jim Chronowski's team to be picked to the all-conference line-up. That line-up also included: infielders - Jim Riggs (Monroe), Mark Cramer (Fordson), Bill Ford (Riverview), Dan Gdowski (Taylor Truman), Mark

The outfielders are Mike Sims (Riverview), John Ray (Lincoln Park), Larry Kniceley (Taylor Center), Rich Baker (Wyandotte), and catcher Gene Bezeau (Monroe).

Monroe's Tom Rogoff, who compiled a 5-2 record on the mound, was also named all-league.

Monroe's Butch Foster, and Riverview's Jesse Jenkins, whose respective team finished atop of the standings, were named as the Great Lakes 8 Conference's co-coaches of the year.

Canfield was given yet another honor this week when the coaches across the state voted him as a member of the coveted Class A All-State team. His total credentials included an untainted 10-0 record and a career 21-4 over-all record. The latter is a school record and his 242 strikeouts also stands as a school mark in that category.

Canfield has signed a letter of intent to enroll this fall at the University of Michigan. He also has to ponder the thoughts of turning pro as the Kansas City Royals drafted him during the recent summer free-agent draft.

JIM CANFIELD

Close call

Westland minor league leader undefeated

Cutting loose for eight runs in the bottom of the third to snap a 3-3 tie, league-leading Crestwood Dodge quelled an upset bid by sixth-place Pedagogues 18-7 for their fourth consecutive victory in the Westland Minor White Division Softball League.

The Pedagogues tied the game with a three-run spurt in the third, but the Dodge people took command for good in that inning thanks to the lively bats of John Sampson, Jeff Puzette and Ron Miller.

Sampson hammered a homer and three singles off of losing pitcher Bob Kruse who also gave up a homer, triple and a pair of doubles to Puzette. Miller chipped in a double and a couple of singles.

Winning pitcher Paul Campbell was tagged for 10 hits, two each by Dave Gracy and Dave Forest while Lynn LeBlanc smacked a run-scoring single.

Meanwhile Johnnie's Union 76 made it four out of five as they pounded M & R Collision 18-3 behind winning pitcher Don Yanick's 10 hits. Gary Rygiel, Mark Krakoviak and Mike Rotter checked in with two hits apiece for the losers while loser Dave Deimner gave up homers to Monty Gobel and Rich Bergerson. Gobel also had a double and triple while Bergerson contributed a pair of singles. Rocky Feister doubled and tripled for the winners who have a half-game (4-1) edge over third place Westland Florist (3-1).

Westland Florist remained in the title picture with a 17-11 victory over the Silver Bullets in a game abbreviated by the time limit. A see-sawing affair most of the way, the Bullets had the lead 3-2 after the first inning, but the Florists tied it up in the second, and erupted for six runs in the third and appeared to be well on their way to an easy victory when the Bullets whizzed back for six of their own runs in the fourth to tie it up again.

A 5-run outburst by the Westlanders in the fourth turned the tide. Winning pitcher Jim Mijal had his problems with Chuck Sommerman who doubled, tripled and homered in three runs, missing the cycle by a single. Mark Rustin contributed a single, double and an RBI, while Chris Rowe picked up a pair of singles for the losers.

Rustin, touched for 22 hits, sustained the loss as Bill Furler and Mijal each checked in with three hits and Bill Verla had two singles.

In other White Division action, McCurdy's Optical held off a determined B.J.'s Lounge 11-7 as Ed Spontak survived a 15-hit assault to chalk up the victory. Spontak gave up two hits each to Dave Gilligan and Bob Morton while Conrad Popwa drove in three runs.

John Johnson and Joe Reynolds led the winners attack with three hits apiece while Reynolds missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to triple. Johnson's three hits were all singles and Ed Tolson chipped in a couple of singles.

The Pedagogues erupted for six runs in the first inning en route to a 20-13 time limit victory over the Silver Bullets. Frank Forest had an outstanding night at the plate as he sliced two singles, a double and triple for three RBIs, while Dave Forest came through with three singles and a triple for three runs batted in and teammate Rick Dickerman accounted four hits, including a double off of loser Paul Newson.

Winning pitcher Pat Nalley tossed a 15-hitter, serving up two hits each to Tim Gohl, Chuck Sommerville and Terry Hanner.

A two-run last-of-the-seventh burst lifted The Family to a close 10-9 victory over the hard-luck B.J. Lounge contingent. Dan Covert was the winning pitcher as he was touched for two hits apiece by Don Miller, Vic Tomlan and Conrad Popewua.

Loser Tom Cameron gave up a homer and a pair of singles to Dave Robertson, and two singles each to Tony Ledesma and Dave Hysko.

Premonition

Though it was only the sun glaring in Plymouth Canton coach Fred Crissey's eyes, it may also have been a forewarning of things to come for the Chiefs at the Class A state playoffs. Crissey and Flint Southwestern's Marv Rettenmund exchange cordialities during the pre-game ceremonies of the Class A state semi-finals, then Flint went out and cashed in on a couple of Canton mental errors to win the game to advance to the finals where the Colts blanked East Kentwood 7-0 to claim the state title. It was the first time that either Canton or Southwestern had made it to the finals.

JC Gold chips rally saves winning streak

A top of the seventh run broke a 3-all deadlock and lifted undefeated JC Gold Chips past their arch-rivals JC Blue Chips 4-3 in last week's feature game in the Westland Community Organizational League.

The Blue Chips drew first blood as they scored two runs in the bottom of the second and made it a 3-1 ball game after four innings.

But the Gold Chippers came up with two runs in the sixth, then got the tie-breaker in the seventh to win their third game against no losses.

Mike Kehrer, the winning pitcher, helped his cause with a pair of singles, one driving in a run, while Bob Alves also slashed a run-scoring single.

Loser Chuck Pickering also gave up six hits and stayed in the game thanks to a solo homer by Bob Reed. Kelley Reed doubled home a run, while Mike Skender doubled and singled for the losers whose record dipped to 1-2 on the year.

Meanwhile, the Dad's Club hung on to win a 14-10 slugfest over the Court's Jester after the winner's had built up a 10-1 lead after three innings. It was the Dad's Club second triumph in three starts.

Both Hank Blayer, the winning hurler, and loser Tom Smith, served up 14 hits, but Dave Gorshek smacked a pair of homers, a double and drove home five runs off of Smith. Teammate Mark Sigler had two singles and Mark Still got a pair of hits, including a double.

Pacing the Court Jester's attack on Blayer was Dan Bush who slapped three singles and drove in three RBIs. Steve Crosby belted a single and double while Smith helped himself to a couple of base hits, driving in a run.

Long's dream comes true: He'll wear Piston uniform

BY ERIC GEARNIS

When John Long played basketball on the playgrounds of Romulus he dreamed of, perhaps someday, playing for Romulus High.

Once realizing that dream by garnering All-State, he dreamed of playing major college basketball.

University of Detroit Coach Dick Vitale helped John achieve that dream, and Long helped Vitale and the U-D to an NCAA and NIT tournament.

Naturally, Long set his sights on the NBA and once again Vitale came through by selecting him in the second round of last Friday's NBA draft along with U-D teammate Terry Tyler.

Long, who averaged 19.7 points and 8.1 rebounds per game for the Titans, was selected as the 29th player in the draft. Tyler had been selected by the Pistons six picks earlier. Upon announcing the selection of Long, Piston General Manager Bob Kauffman said, "It may be a beautiful day outside but Thunder and Lightning are coming into the Silverdome."

Doug Morrison missed posting a rare shutout when Tom Macerie's group tallied twice in the top of the seventh, but the All-Star Sports hurler had the satisfaction of earning the victory 7-2. Morrison was tagged for three singles by Bob Scroborski who scored three times while teammate Keith Tillenson sliced two singles and Roy Brewer drove in one of the runs with a single.

Pat Dunn, Ron Stokes and Morrison finished the day with two hits.

Crabbie Joe's unleashed a 20-hit attack and humbled losing pitcher Dennis Jackson and The Bad Company 14-4 in their first encounter of the season. Jackson

Westland softballers have perfect records

Though they are in separate divisions - Joe Thomas and Jake's Lounge have something in common in the early stages of the Westland Softball League campaign.

Both Thomas' men and Jake's have perfect 4-0 records in their respective leagues.

Joe Thomas buried Westside Rustproofing 18-2 as Joe Cooley chalked up the victory on a 12-hitter. After giving up two runs in the opening inning, Cooley went on to shut out his rivals.

Joe Thomas came back and took the lead 3-2 in the first frame, then scored in the remaining five innings. Cooley gave up two hits to Dave Gorshek, Larry Griffin and Dick Westerland while losing pitcher Pat Tajack was tagged for four hits - all singles - by Scott Brown whose teammates Rick Wheeler and Bob Thaxton both checked in with three hits each.

Century 21 also remained perfect with a 21-2 shellacking of fifth place Playmate Lounge as pitcher Bob Fullerton served up 11 hits, including three each to Rick Morphey and Carl Towne who had batted in both runs. Ed Glonowski picked up two singles off of Fullerton.

Steve Wilson, Mike O'Brien, and Brian Hopton paced Century 21's assault as Wilson drilled a pair of singles, a double and a triple; O'Brien had four hits, including two doubles and Hopton wound up with three singles.

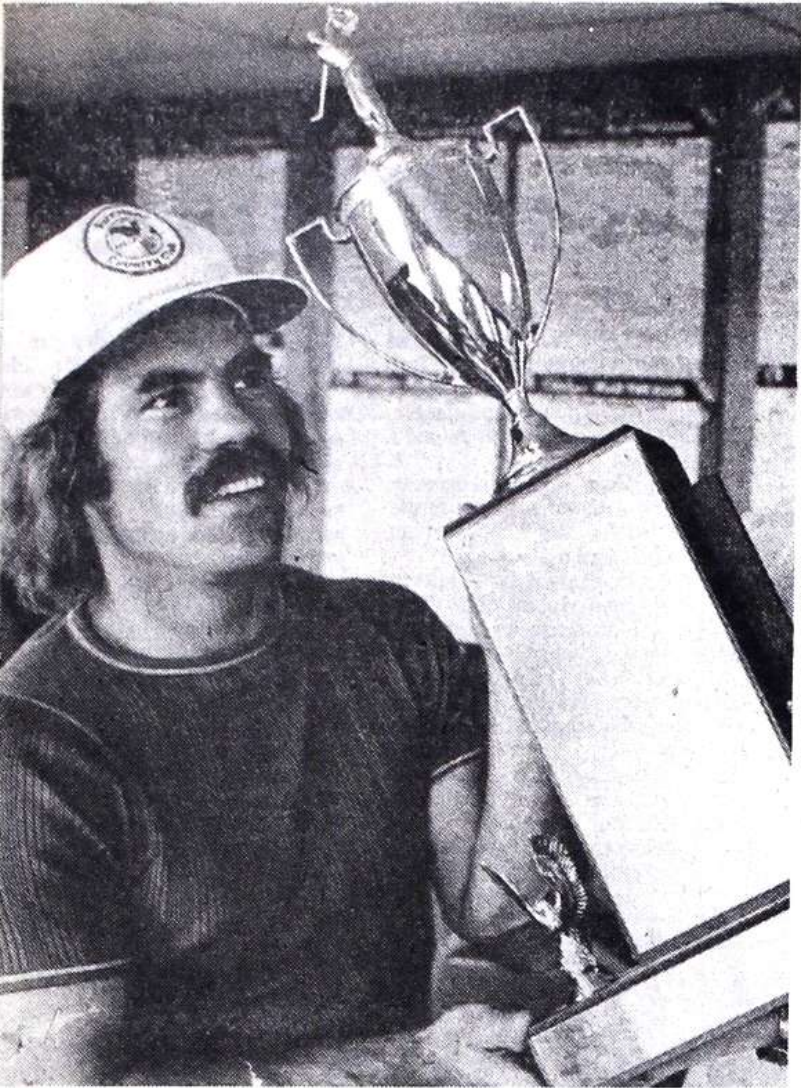

couldn't silence the bats of Greg Kelley and Tom Doupe who had eight hits - five doubles - between them. Blaine Wade checked in with three hits and three RBIs.

Winning pitcher Ron Rosenberg gave up a total of 10 hits.

Meanwhile, over in the Blue Division, Jake's Lounge continued to coast at the expense of Argo Paint. Scoring in all but the third inning, the league-leaders downed the painters 12-5 for their fourth victory.

Dennis Simonds shut out the losers until the top of the sixth when they struck for two runs. They got their final three in the seventh as Ron Kersten blasted a pair of singles and

Remember when

It was a year ago last July that Wayne's Tom Piscopink whizzed through 36 holes for a 144 total to capture the three important titles - the City Championship crown, the city of Wayne title and the Lenny Anderson Memorial Golf Trophy. Some 100 amateur golfers are expected to be back again this year when the 1978 tournament is held at Fellow's Creek. The tournament is held to determine the five finalists for the cities of Wayne, Westland, Canton, Inkster and Garden City who will compete in the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's state tournament.

City Championship Golf Tourney dates set

It's back to Fellow's Creek Golf Course

You have been inquiring about it, so here it is: the dates for the annual City Championship Golf Tournament have been set.

The prestigious tournament, which annually lures over 100 amateur golfers to the field, will be held on Saturday and Sunday, July 22 and July 23.

Site for the competition will be Fellow's Creek Golf Course, 2936 Lotz Road, Canton Township.

"I feel that our golfers have received excellent treatment from the golf course's management and the course itself is in excellent condition," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager, "for these reasons we didn't hesitate to return to the course."

The tournament format includes 36-holes of medal play: 18 on Saturday and 18 on Sunday to determine the separate city championships for the following cities: Wayne, Westland, Canton, Inkster and Garden City.

The top five finishers in each of the championship flights will represent their respective cities at the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's state tournament which is usually held in September.

Trophies will be awarded by the recreation departments to the first, second and third place finishers in each flight and additional flights will be staged only if total entry for a city is sufficient and warrants it.

Last year more than 100 golfers took part in the tournament which ended with Wayne's Tom Piscopink putting together rounds of 71 and 73 for a record-setting 144 total to win both the tournament championship and the City of Wayne title.

Paul Wiekierak, who shot a 148, is the defending Westland champ, while Paul Deedler captured the Canton title with a 149 and Lacy Hill emerged as the winner in Inkster with a 156 total. Garden City's defending champ is Mike Cordon who carded a 150 for the two-day affair.

Who may compete for the city titles?

Any male golfer who lives or works for a tax-paying or tax-supported institution in any of the competing cities is eligible to vie for the city championship of that city, however, only bona fide residents may represent a city on the team in the state tournament.

Eligibility of teams or players shall not violate the recognized codes of the colleges, universities or the Michigan High School Athletic Association and players must have reached their 18th birthday prior to August 1st of the year of the tournament to compete for the state title.

To enter, a competitor should fill out the entry blank accompanying the story. There is a $17.50 entry fee which covers green's fees and the purchase of the trophies.

Please make checks payable to TOM MOORADIAN, Sports Editor. The entry fee and the check should be mailed or dropped off at the Associated Newspapers offices, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne Michigan.

There will be no refunds after the end of the first round of competition.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning the ANP Sports Desk, 729-4000.

Running wild

Loser Larry Cooper was tagged for two triples, a double and a single by Jim Kolodzieg. Moe Fitzgerald and Bill Muncie each had three hits.

Evergreen Sprinklers rallied for three runs in the seventh but fell short against the hot-hitting Quo Vadis which evened up its record at 2-2, 14-12. Winner Mark Bjeck tossed an 11-hitter as Joe Bendreau slapped a double, triple and homer - good for three RBIs, and teammate Jeff Combs drilled a solo homer. Denny Anas contributed a run-scoring double.

Combs, the losing pitcher, was tagged for two hits by Clark Johnson and Jack Moriarty who accounted for four RBIs between them. Jim Moriarty latched on to a pair of singles and a double and scored three times.

Answering Service Inc. exploded for 26 hits and went on to bury P & P Distributors 17-6 as Frank Payne collected four hits, Bud Brock had three and Gary Scrum picked up three, including a homer and three RBIs for the winners.

Winning pitcher Brock gave up 15 hits including three singles to Dave Eads, a double and a pair of singles to Dave Nichols and a homer and single to Roger Finch.

The Unwants turned back the Scorpions 8-6 thanks to the hitting of Ed Baker, Rick Powell and John Murray. Baker had a double and a couple of singles while Powell smacked two doubles.

End of the line

It must have seemed one of the longest lines ever for Plymouth Canton ball players (at left) who congratulate their counterparts from Flint Southwestern after Flint won a 1-0 cliffhanger from the Chiefs. The showdown between the No. 1 ranked Flint and the No. 2 ranked Canton teams took place last Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial Field during the semi-final round of the state playoffs. It was the first time in the young history of Canton High that Coach Fred Crissey's team reached the semis and only after a hard-fought duel did the local ball club fall. The loss left the Chiefs with an enviable 25-5 over-all record for the 1978 campaign.

3 teams keep records perfect in gals softball

Refusing to buckle under pressure, three teams remain undefeated last week in the Wayne Parks and Recreation women's softball league.

Tastee Freez presently has the edge over the other two unbeaten clubs, managing to get one more game in than its rivals. The league-leader is sporting a 5-0 record, while J & D and Turner Service-Jack Demmer Ford have amassed 4-0 marks.

Tastee's erupted for eight runs in the second inning and went on to bury fourth-place Jake's 20-4 as winning pitcher Stacy Sailus gave up six hits including a triple to Kathy Perusse and a run-scoring single to Karen Vichere.

Loser Donna Fowler was touched for 16-hits with Brenda Schwartz leading the attack with a homer run, two singles and four runs batted in. Both Wendy Reynolds and Kim Schwartz chipped in with three hits with Ms. Reynolds slicing a two-run triple. Kim had three RBIs.

Mary Porter tossed a three-hitter and posted a rare 21-0 shutout over Unistrut as J & D Auto remained perfect on the year. Two of those hits went to Fran Murphy while Jane Barber got the other.

Murphy, who was charged with the loss, had her problems stopping the hot bats of Cheryl Solitice, Mary Porter, Sally LeVoy and Lou Hoeft. Ms. Solitice hammered a homer and latched on to three singles as she batted in five runs, while Ms. Porter homered, doubled and singled in a run for three RBIs. Ms. Hoeft and LeVoy split four hits between them.

Earl Keim (Jim Fletcher's of Dearborn) exploded for five runs in each of the second and fourth innings to overpower Standard Federal's 12-1 in their initial encounter of the campaign. Winning pitcher Suzy Richardson tossed a three-hitter and one of those was a double by Darlene Lane.

Ms. Richardson helped her own cause with a pair of singles and two RBIs.

Though the hits were nearly evenly divided, (17-14), Commercial Power Brake made its count in a 16-8 triumph over the winless Canton Club.

Cheryl Mayuan rapped out three hits for the winners while Clenda Porter and Terri Louchs each had two singles. Winning pitcher Martha Calegari gave up a single and double to Shirley Bartronika while Annie Balance also bagged two hits.

Losing pitcher was Brenda Koons who walked four and fanned one.

Soccer is coming to Inkster

Soccer, one of the fastest growing sports in the United States, is coming to Inkster.

The Inkster Parks and Recreation has set registration for a soccer program to be offered to residents, boys and girls, ages 5 through 9, four a four-week period.

Class size will be limited to 22 students per hour and classes will begin at 9:30 a.m. Cost of the program is $3.50.

The classes are designed to teach the basics of the game and registration is presently being accepted at the City Hall. For further information, please contact Charles Horn at 562-5220 or call 565-4100, extension 38.

Warho of St. Clair Shores and Buddy Bennett of Lake Orion rounded out the top five drivers.

Preliminary Late Model action saw Barker post fast time with a 12.63. Fair won the dash, with Bennett and Steve Bunge of Monroe taking heat wins. Bill Vinton of St. Clair Shoes grabbed pursuit honors.

Chuck Hall of Toledo came through for his first win of 1978 in the Figure 8 feature event. Jerry Middleton of Allen Park was second. Lubie Allen was third while Billy Simmons of Plymouth was fourth.

Saturday night racing action will continue at Flat Rock Speedway with Late Models, Figure 8's and Street Stocks. Time trials are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and racing will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday night racing at Flat Rock gets underway on June 21. Super 6's, Figure 8's and Street Stocks will compete and trials are set for 7 p.m.

Studio Lounge gets major softball scare

Though Studio Lounge may be undefeated, it didn't scare third place Shoppe Around any in their first confrontation in the Westland Men's Major Softball League.

Studio needed a last of the seventh one-run rally to shake off their rivals 14-13 and preserve their eight game winning streak.

Shoppe Around stunned the defending league champs with a six-run first inning off of winning hurler Dick Reynolds who had his problems putting out Bill Pierce. Pierce connected for a pair of over-the-fence homers and also singled for three runs batted in.

Pierce's teammate Dennis Rietz also enjoyed an enviable day at the plate as he cracked an over-the-fence homer and singled twice while Barry Anderson chipped in four singles in a 19-hit assault upon Reynolds.

But Reynolds' mates didn't let him down. Mike Kusutich missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to homer. But his four hits, including a pair of singles, a double and a triple produced four runs, while Bob Adams collected three hits, including an over-the-fence homer, the game winning single and a double. Reynolds helped his cause with three singles and an RBI.

Shoppe Around's record dipped to 6-3 and it is seated in third place, eager for a rematch with second place Big Bill's Sporting Goods (7-1) and with the league-leaders.

Bill's meanwhile buried winless John's Place Store 37-2 behind the three-hit pitching of Steve Patterson who got the support of a 36-hit attack. Perry Pappas peppered the ball around the diamond, (and out of the ball field) as he batted two over-the-fence homers, doubled twice and drove home seven runs. Bob Killingbeck had four RBI's and five hits, including a homer and double. Hugh Gill chipped in four hits, one a two-run triple.

Losing pitcher Lloyd Chapman drove in one of the runs with a single while Ed Shafer and Scott Galvan got the other two hits.

The Rockets erupted for 10 runs in the first inning and went on to down the Metro Maintenance crew 13-5 behind winning pitcher Bob Roberts' 14-hit pitching efforts. Mark Wozniak, Jim Hawkins and Tom Lafortune each homered off of loser Charlie Meyers.

Barry Kenya had four hits for the losers and Dave Conrad and Larry Ayotte split four hits between them as the losers remained in a two-way tie for seventh with the Rockets.

Both have 3-5 records.

In other Major League action, Metro mauled Jack's Party Store 16-7 as Meyers, Dave Conrad and Larry Reed again led the attack at the plate. Meyers belted four hits, including a double and drove in two runs; Conrad also had three hits and missed the "cycle" by failing to homer and Reed contributed a single and double.

Losing pitcher Bob Phillips gave up a total of 19 hits, while Meyers served up two each to Pete Przylyta, Ken Leftwich and Ken Bear.

Castell Realtors parlayed a 21-hit attack and scored in every inning to turn back the Rockets 10-7. Loser Bob Roberts delivered four hits to Paul Poslusny and three each to Mark Koss and Denny Moyle, while winner Jim Liddy was touched for 13 hits, two each by Mark Wozniak, Jim Hawkins and Joe Rysztak.

Terflinger shuts out J & D Auto

Shutouts in baseball are rare, and in softball they're rarer except, of course, if Sharon Terflinger is on the mound and she has the backing of Studio Lounge's impeccable defense.

Miss Terflinger twirled a five-hitter and blanked a tough J & D Auto aggregation 2-0 as Studio Lounge continued to roll in the Westland Women's Softball League.

Studio now has won all four of its starts, while it was J & D's first setback of the young season. Studio scored in the first inning, then losing pitcher Shellie Arner managed to hold her tough adversaries without another run until the bottom of the fourth when she gave up the only other run of the game.

Heather Domke's double scored one of the two runs while Maureen McIntosh and Jo Snow managed to get two hits apiece for the winners. Terflinger gave up singles to Cindy Lillis, Debbie Junk and Rita Woods.

Crestwood Dodge remained in a three-way tie for second (with J & D and Westway Trucking) as they swamped winless and last place Token Lounge 26-8 in a game abbreviated by the time limit. Dodge scored five runs in the opening inning, picked up six in each of the second and third before erupting for nine runs in the fourth.

Token came alive in the fourth when it managed to tilt the scoreboard for six runs thanks to three RBIs by Diane Retich who doubled and tripled and run-scoring hits by Pat Mayo and Kelly Horvath.

Winning pitcher Bev Liverance was not only tough on the mound but at the plate as well where she latched on to four singles which counted for four runs batted in. Mates Edwina Stomoski and Colleen Dittman accounted for three and two hits, respectively, off of losing pitcher Donna Niesen.

In other action, Westland Lock & Key had the winning combination over the Power Packs in a game also called because of the time limit. Winning pitcher Debbie Whitson whacked three doubles and a homer for four RBIs while Judy Borg also turned in with four hits (all singles) and Michelle Borg chipped in three hits off of loser Karen Dugas who also collected a single and a double.

Kathy Gillette picked up three hits, including three RBIs and Cheryl Mays socked a couple of singles for the losers.

Exploding for 32 hits, VFW Bova Post overwhelmed Hudson's 0-0 Westland 25-1 to even up their season record to 2-2. Barb Enoch blasted five hits, including a pair of homers off of losing pitcher Doris Madar while Keri Beteau batted in three runs on a triple and four singles and Karen Lowrey's four singles counted for two RBIs. Incidentally, those five Enoch hits produced seven runs.

Terry McKnight and Cindy Watts split four hits off of Beteau, the winning pitcher, who also gave up a run-scoring single to Dawn Hughes.

Johnny's Shell stayed in the title chase with a lopsided 15-1 victory over Westway Trucking as Karen Brookins hurled a five-hitter, giving up singles to Julie Loken, Carol Karney and Laurie Nagy.

Dawn LaLonde belted three singles and a triple and counted three RBIs off of loser Pam Cramer who was also touched for a homer and two singles by Crystal Minton and three hits by Karen Austin who failed hitting for the cycle when she didn't homer.

Watt, Lindley widen Canton golf lead

Bruce Watt and Bill Lindley have established themselves as the golfers to beat this season in the Canton Men's Golf League.

The two senior golfers have widened the gap between them and the field, holding on to first place by four points over their closest challengers.

Lindley and Watt swept five points last week from second place Paul Oberhelman and Mike Mattingly to build up their total to 24 as compared to the runners-up's 20½.

Lindley and Watt turned in their best rounds of the campaign as Watt shot a 45 and Lindley finished with 46 for nine holes at Fellow's Creek. Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets also took five points from their rivals, Glenn and Don Ponette to move into second place. Tony Valenti shot his best round in league play this year as he came in with a 37, the season's best in the league as well.

Oberhelman posted a 38 and Gordon Lapierre had a 40 for the next best.

Here are last week's results: Watt and Lindley 5, Oberhelman and Mattingly 0; Yuchas and Hoffman 4, Glover and Pitz 1; Sheets and Eminger 5, Ponte and Ponte 0; Lawrence and Thomas 3, Slade and Bednarz 2; Lapierre and Argonis 5, Natoli and Mogelnicki 0; Ryan and White 3, Canning and Young 2; Koers and Koers 4, Stubben and Seewald 1; Riggs and Rehberg 5, McGee and Johnson 0; Gabriel and Horrey 4, Lally and Lyndrup 1; Valenti and Kraft 4, Brock and Taylor 1.

Belleville's Briggs posts his 1st victory at Flat Rock Speedway

Belleville's Ed Briggs turned in the fastest heat time of 14:26 on a beautiful Saturday night for racing at Flat Rock Speedway as the action continues on the trek located one mile south of Flat Rock on Telegraph Road (U.S.).

John Briggs of Ypsilanti was the dash and pursuit victor with Middleton and Rick Smith of Toledo taking heat wins.

Detroit's Harry Pingston scored in the 30-lap ARCA Late Model feature event. He led until lap 15 when Ed Cooper of Clark Lake took the number one spot followed closely by perennial threat Jay Fair of Pontiac.

On the 22nd lap, Fair dove under Cooper, with the two stars coming together and bringing out the caution flag, with both going to the rear at the restart. Pingston had inherited the lead and held on to win.

Edwin Schroeder probably is very happy that Belleville has a Babe Ruth baseball program.

Schroeder, a Belleville resident, purchased a ticket that would help the local baseball program. The ticket also made him the lucky winner of a car

Noises emanating from the undercarriage of a car near a wheel usually mean some part of the suspension assembly is loose or binding. Have all loose control arm mounting bolts tightened and spray all rubber bushings around them. If the bushings are badly deteriorated, the silicone may be of little help and the bushings will have to be replaced. If the car is equipped with leaf springs in the rear, have them sprayed with a silicone lubricant. Do not use lubricating oil which will cause rubber fittings to deteriorate.

RAY SCOTT

Ray Scott:

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Living in the shadows of Michigan and Michigan State is not the most enviable position a college basketball coach can be in.

But Ray Scott, head cage mentor at Eastern Michigan University, feels it won't be long until the Hurons emerge into the basketball sunlight.

"There's no doubt about it, living in the shadows of U-M and MSU, the boys like to go there," Scott said recently in an interview with Associated Newspapers.

"It makes it a lot more difficult for us to recruit the blue-chip players and there are a lot of ramifications. We don't have as much money to spend as the bigger universities, but really, most of our competitor comes from Western Michigan University and Central Michigan." Scott, the 6-foot-9 former Detroit Pistons player and coach, had much to say on a wide range of topics.

Although Al Cicotte, the former Belleville High School star, was a standout for EMU as a senior this past season, the Hurons have had relatively few "big name" players attend their school from Associated Newspapers' circulation area.

And there are some high-powered basketball teams and talented players from the 13 high schools located in the communities covered by The Belleville Enterprise, The Romulus Roman, Westland Eagle, Wayne Eagle, Canton Eagle and The Inkster Ledger-Star.

Scott was asked why more from this area did not attend EMU.

"It's tough to recruit prep stars from the ANP area"

"We've had a few good players come here from your area, but the 'blue-chippers' have their pick of the field and others like to go away to college," the personable coach replied.

"We've made a lot of progress in the two years I've been here as coach. It takes time to turn a program around."

Scott came to Eastern Michigan as basketball coach in 1976-77 after signing a four-year contract. He had been suddenly dismissed by the Detroit Pistons after coaching them four years and leading them to their finest finish in the franchise's history.

He inherited a team that won very few games the previous year and improved its record to 9-18 his first year. And even though last year's slate showed a modest improvement to 11-16, Scott says with a little luck the record could have been reversed.

"We were hot at the start of the season and at the end of the season, but lost four tough games at mid-year that kept us from having an outstanding record," he mused.

Scott explained the Hurons lost 6 of 9 games before the team started its Mid-American Conference (MAC) schedule. "And five of those losses were to U-D, Indiana State, Arizona, Michigan and DePaul, each of whom were ranked in the top 20 at some time last year."

The former Pistons forward pointed to EMU's 76-69 victory over Miami of Ohio as the high point of the season. Miami, as you may remember, beat Marquette in overtime three weeks later in the NCAA tournament.

"My philosophy is to teach fundamentals and try to inspire good camaraderie and communication between players and coaches. It's incorporated into our practices and I'm very enthused."

"The biggest thing about our basketball program is that it's on the way up," Scott exuded. "We have good people involved and a good example of increased interest is that the attendance was up this past year."

Referring back to recruiting, Scott said, "We don't recruit the blue-chippers but we do strive to get intelligent, talented players for our squad. We play a good brand of basketball but we are a step below the Missouri Valley Conference and the Big 10," he admitted.

However, he said the difference in the brand of basketball played in MAC and the other two conferences "was three or four" outstanding players on each team.

"The first year we ran a lot of patterned plays and last year we opened up and ran a lot." And Scott said he would be doing more recruiting in the western Wayne County area covered by ANP's six weeklies.

The bearded Scott compared coaching college players to coaching high-salaried professional hoop stars.

"Most players want to be pacified in the pros, whereas college players are young and willing to learn. Pro players feel they're at the end of the rainbow—college players are more teachable."

"But I enjoyed coaching the Pistons," Scott hastened to add. He confessed he didn't know why he was suddenly dismissed as their coach in 1976.

"I think they wanted a new face to relate to. They (Feldman, Davidson—the new owners) were uncomfortable with me. I honestly don't know why they let me go as coach—they never told me," Scott said with a shake of his head.

Prior to coaching the Pistons, Scott graduated from West Philadelphia High School and attended University of Portland. After a fairly uneventful first year, he dropped out in his sophomore year to return home and work to support the family.

Then came his big break. While playing basketball in the Eastern Basketball Association, a small pro league on the Atlantic coast, Scott was the Pistons' first-round draft choice in 1961, when there were only nine teams in the National Basketball Association. "That was my biggest thrill as a player, and my biggest thrill as a coach was being named NBA Coach of the Year in 1973-74."

After a six-year career with Detroit, he played three years with the old Baltimore Bullets (including one championship team) and then two years with the Virginia Squires.

Seven games into the 1972 season, Earl Lloyd was fired as Pistons coach and Scott, who had been hired by Lloyd as an assistant the previous year, was named to replace the man who has had the most influence on Scott's life.

In his four years as Pistons coach, Scott won 151 and lost 140, the only Pistons mentor to have a career winning record. His achievements hit their high mark in that 1973-74 season when the Pistons finished with a 52-30 season record before bowing in the final game of the playoffs to the Chicago Bulls.

The records also show that during Scott's tenure the team averaged close to 7,000 fans per game, the highest in its history.

Asked if the Detroit Pistons would be a success in Pontiac, the 39-year-old Scott shrugged his shoulders. "Basketball is a city game and it's backers live in the city. The news media is there. It could be a disaster."

He paused briefly, then added, "I really don't care—one way or the other."

While disavowing any desire to "hype" up EMU's basketball program with a "Dick Vitale" approach, Scott still expressed great admiration for the new Pistons coach who used a "circus-type" program to promote University of Detroit basketball.

"There's only one Dick Vitale," Scott noted. "I think Dick's a good man—he's enthusiastic and energetic. If they give him time, he'll be successful. He helped us immeasurably by scheduling us and also getting us into his Motor City Tournament."

Scott praised his mother, who took much time to guide him in his early years, he says. He also mentioned his 16-year-old son, John, who is working toward an academic scholarship; his daughter, Karen, 14, and his 8-year-old twins, David and Debra.

Although divorced, Scott has a very high regard for marriage and close family ties and points to it as the foundation for building a happy life.

He said 12 of his 17 years in Michigan have been spent in the Ypsilanti area, where he now resides.

"The basketball future at EMU is bright and I'm thrilled to be a part of it," he concluded. And his positive approach to basketball and to life is infectious. It may well lead many high school basketball stars from this area to don the green-and-white colors of Eastern Michigan University and lead it out of the shadows of its more well-known neighboring universities.

Michuta, Borgelt sign with Grand Valley

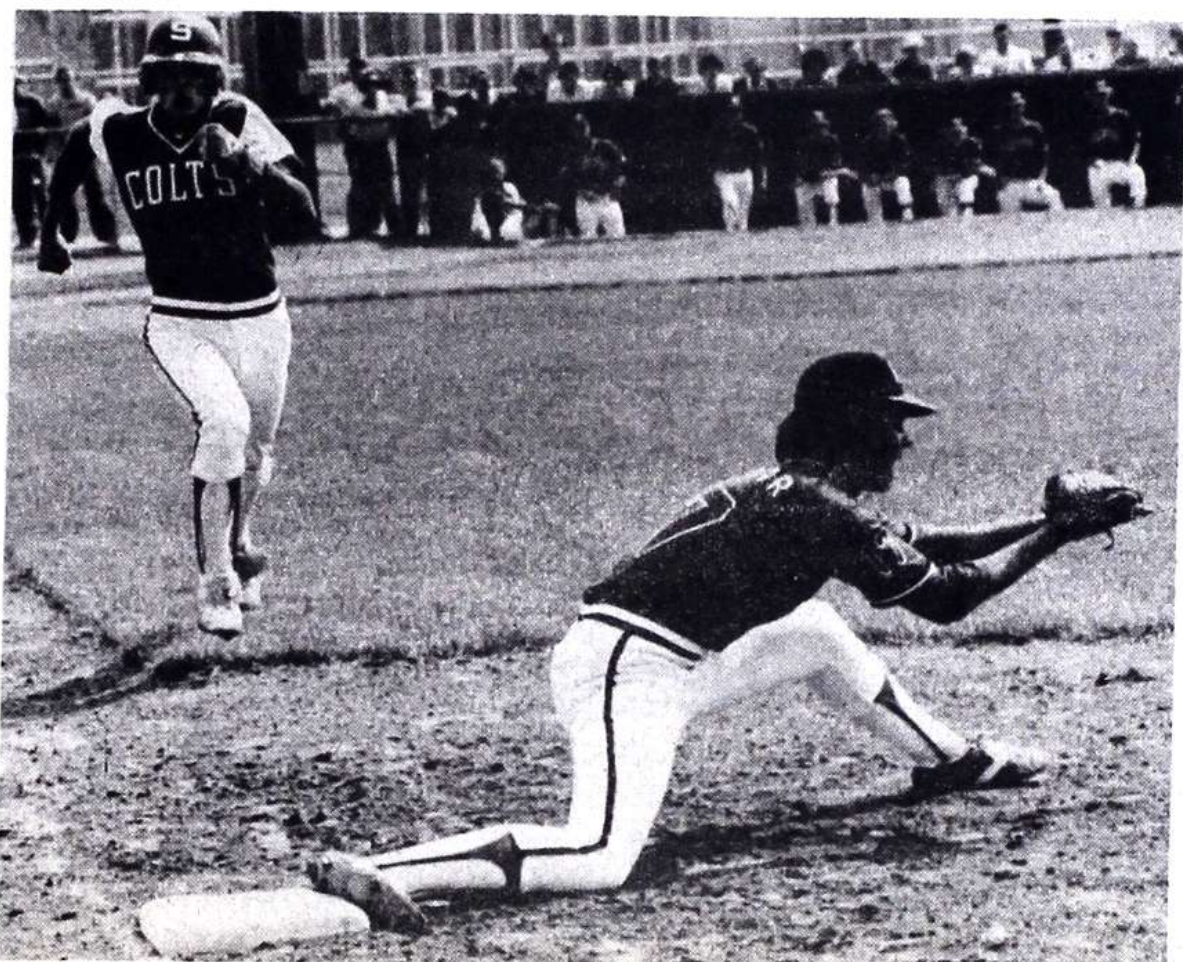

Westlander Steve Borgelt and Livonian Steve Michuta, two outstanding prep stars from Bishop Borgess High School, have signed letters of intent to play football at Grand Valley State next fall.

Borgelt, a tackle, is a 6'2", 220-pounds and has won two letters in football and one in track. He was named to the All-League, All-Catholic, All-Metro, All-State (Honorable Mention) teams. The 6'4", 200-pound Michuta won three letters under Coach Fred Mushinski in football and two in basketball and one in track. During his senior year, Michuta was named to the All-Metro, All-Area, All-Catholic(second team), and All-State (honorable mention) teams.

Grand Valley had an outstanding football season last fall under head coach Jim Harkema. The Lakers posted a 7-3 record and won the Great Lakes Conference title.

Michuta is the son of Anthony and Dolores Michuta, 33134 Kentucky, in Livonia, and Borgelt is the son of George and Carol Borgelt, 7394 Garden, in Westland.

Out at first

A little stretching by Plymouth Canton's first baseman, sophomore David Meador and the Chiefs have an easy out in the semi-finals of the state Class A playoff against Flint Southwestern. Baserunners were few and rare in the classic confrontation as each team got only three hits, but Flint, the No. 1 ranked team in the state, put together a pair of hits in the fifth which led to the only and decisive run. After shutting out Canton 1-0, Southwestern went on to beat East Kentwood 7-0 to capture their first Class A state baseball crown.

Wayne-Westland track club sets up shop at John Glenn

The curtains may have come down on the 1978 high school track and field season, but there's still plenty of competition left for those who desire it.

The Wayne-Westland Track & Field program will help young athletes, ages 12 and up, to learn how to high jump, pole vault, long jump, triple jump, run hurdles and distances from 60 meters to 10,000.

"The goal of our program is to provide instructions and minimize anxiety characteristics of many competitive social systems, so as to provide good sportsmanship and mutual encouragement," said Rance Teeple, one of the organizers of the program.

The program will be staged on the facilities of Westland John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, between Wayne and Newburgh. The participants will meet Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m., beginning June 26 and ending on July 27. Participants should be 12 years old or older. There will also be classes Tuesday and Friday from 6 to 8 p.m., beginning June 27 and ending July 20. Participants should be 11 years old and younger.

There is a $7.50 fee for registration for the Monday, Wednesday and Thursday classes, while the Tuesday and Friday class participants will have to fork out $5. Nonresidents will be required to pay twice the listed fee.

All participants should be recently examined by a physician and given approval to participate.

The program will be run by Teeple, who is a former assistant track and field coach at Westland John Glenn and is presently assistant women's track and field coach at Eastern Michigan University. Rance also is a former All-Area pole vaulter-long jumper from Cherry Hill High.

Teeple will be assisted by younger brother, Wes, who was an All-Area vaulter from Westland John Glenn and went on to break the Eastern Michigan University mark of 16 feet, 6 inches. Ranked among the top five pole vaulters in the Midwest United States, Wes also specializes in the decathlon.

Barry Summers, also a former

Glenn star, completes the coaching staff. A MIAA 1977 league champion in the shot put and discus, Summers finished seventh at the NCAA Division 111 National Championships in both shot put and discus. He is currently ranked among the top 10 hammer throwers in the Midwest.

The group that the three coaches train will compete in meets staged at Wayne Memorial with a possibility that the club also will see action against similar groups from Taylor Truman, Flat Rock, New Boston and the surrounding communities.

For further information, please contact Rance Teeple at 721-0131 or at home after 7 p.m. during the week at 1-229-1274.

4-way tie for 1st in Canton golf loop

If the first weeks of competition are any indication what's to come during the season, the Canton Women's Golf League should be a cliffhanger.

Presently four golfers - Silvia Dickinson, Lou Skotzke, Bev Green and Pauline Pryor - have a slice of first place, each accumulating 19 points.

Green shot her best round of the season as she posted a 49 for nine holes at Fellow's Creek Golf Course. Helen McGee scored a personal best round of 59, while Betty McDougall sliced a hefty 33 strokes off her score since the start of the season.

Trailing the four leaders in the league are: Mary Kay Frev with 16; Estelle Heidt, Betty Williams and Tihi Himmelberger - with 15 each; Helen McGee - 13; Betty Lowing - 11; Denise Chapman, Betty McDougall - 10; Karen Griffith, Ginie Johnson, with 9; Marge Trapp - 8; Mary Jane Faussett - 7; Sandy Steed, with 6; Sandy Frozan, Kay Nichols, Deidre Vesnaugh - 5; Irene Karnish - 4; Joreschi Coreschi - 3, Nadia Allmich, 3 and Kathy Freezee - 3.

Prices are going up, real estate taxes are going up, energy costs are going up. Some people think that this is a bad time to buy homes.

Those people are wrong. Because prices, taxes and energy costs are going up, this is a good time to buy.

"LIST PROPERTY
WILL SELL"

List your property at a fair price or don't list it at all. If property is listed right it will sell. An isolated sale of just one or two properties isn't enough, nor is a sale on the market six months ago a very good guide in setting the value of property. Our market changes about as often as hairdos and automobile styles. Stay away from the list at any price and hope outfits. The old adage still holds, you know: "A property well listed (priced right) is half sold." The real estate business, because of specialization, is far more competitive than ever before. This is why it is so important for you to call on Garling Realty for assistance when you decide to sell your home.
